Victoria To Prosecute Fruit Cases

McGregor Report Findings Will Lead To Prosecution

B.C.F.G.A. PASSES APPROVING RESOLUTION

Executive Session At Kelowna Discusses Combine Charges

Approval of the Provincial Government's announced intention to take action as a result of the investigation and findings of the McGregor report, into the charges made by Godfrey Isaacs, of Oryama, was expressed at the meeting of the B.C.F.G.A. held in Kelowna on Monday. The charges were that a combine existed between Sales Service, the Lander Co., Western Grocers, and Dominion Fruit.

From press reports the executive learned that the Hon. Gordon Wismar, Attorney General, has instructed H. I. Bird, Vancouver counsel, to prepare indictments against a number of persons allegedly involved in the combine. Mr. Bird, it will be remembered, was counsel for Mr. McGregor in the conduct of the investigation in the Okanagan and on the Prairies. The reports also state that assistance will be given Mr. Bird.

A complete study of the McGregor report is to be made before prosecutions are to be launched.

Examination will be made of the relative positions of the Manitoba and British Columbia Governments, the Western Grocers and Dominion Fruit's head offices being located in Winnipeg, Man.

The resolution adopted at the B.C.F.G.A. executive session, also urges the Provincial Government to take immediate steps to provide producers with any further powers which will enable them to control their own business and prevent a recurrence of similar conditions.

The resolution as finally worded was moved by A. C. Desbrisay, Penikese, and P. J. M. LeGuen, Vernon. Members of the executive voiced the opinion that the government was bound to take action on the report as it indicated the combine was against the growers' interests.

Executive Members LeGuen and Desbrisay inquired of Dave McNair, sales manager, who was invited to attend and answer the question, if pressing by the association of prosecution charges, would affect the sale of the crop.

Mr. McNair's reply was that there had been no noticeable weakening of interest on the part of the whole sales involved, the Dominion Fruit and Western Grocers. Competition on the prairies among the trade is

GRAHAME PLANNING TO BUILD NEW PREMISES ON SEVENTH ST. SITE

New Creamery And Milk Plant Building To Be Erected

A modern milk plant and creamery building is to be constructed on Seventh Street, according to the plan of P. A. W. Grahame, it was divulged at the City Council meeting on Monday night.

Mr. Grahame, who has operated his Royal Dairy on Montclair Street for many years, offered $800 for eight lots on Seventh Street, which are located in the area opposite the Langstaff & Little garage.

In a communication to the Council, Mr. Grahame pointed out that expanding business made the new development necessary. The new building will be of attractive brick and hollow tile.

The offer to buy the property was turned over to the land sales committee, with power to act, it being understood that Mr. Grahame wishes to start building soon, providing the land bid is acceptable.

On this basis the distribution is, Vernon $200; Kelowna $50; Penticton $50; Salmon Arm $50; Armstrong $50; Enderby $50; Revelstoke $50; Summerland $50; Kamloops $50; and Peachland $50.

Hockey Play To Start On Friday Night

Mystery Surrounds Team Strengths—Strong Lines Indicated

The great shroud of secrecy that has hung like a pall over the actions of all four teams in the North Okanagan Hockey League during the past few weeks has just begun to lift, and the mysterious transactions that have been carried on behind locked doors are starting slowly to appear.

Each club has been dicker with outstanding names in intermediate hockey and each has been afraid the others would pry into their dealings with league-shaking results. This, therefore, has lent an air of intrigue to the whole set-up that has had all the elements of a good old fashioned "mellodrama" with each club a villain and the much prized imports of the other clubs its prey.

Now, however, the papers have been signed or verbal agreements have been reached and although the clubs are unwilling to let such information out, the names of these players are beginning to see the light.

CLARKE IN VALLEY From Salmon Arm, the northernmost member of the loop, word has filtered along the grapevine that Boyd Clarke, of the Coy Cup holding Goldiggers, will guide the destinies of the main line city's aggregation this winter. It is also said that he will bring with him, when he arrives around the end of this month, some first string players to bolster the local talent. Because of its remoteness, Salmon Arm has been able to cover its actions to a greater extent than the other teams, and as a result its squad is at present the largest question mark in the league.

Passing down into the Valley, one finds that Armstrong is fostering a

SCHEDULE ARRANGED

A meeting of the representatives of all four teams in the North Okanagan Hockey League was held in this city on Wednesday night to draw up a schedule for the first half of the season, the end of which will be played in the Civic Arena.

The following is the schedule approved with the last mentioned team in each case credited with the home game: Dec. 1, Armstrong and Vernon; Dec. 4, Kelowna and Armstrong; Dec. 8, Salmon Arm and Kelowna; Dec. 11, Salmon Arm and Vernon; Dec. 13, Kelowna and Salmon Arm; Dec. 15, Salmon Arm and Armstrong; Dec. 20, Armstrong and Salmon Arm; Dec. 22, Armstrong and Kelowna; Dec. 25, Kelowna and Vernon; Dec. 28, Salmon Arm and Kelowna; Jan. 5, Vernon and Armstrong.

His style of skating is also being changed and it is understood that he is developing more speed and greater ease in handling his stick. In a recent game played against Spokane, Pat scored for the University, but the credit for the goal was, by mistake, handed to another player on the team by Const papers. In an earlier match with Portland, he turned in an assist on one of the two goals the team scored during the encounter.

On Sunday, November 26, Gonzaga will meet the Trail Smoke Eaters in a game at Spokane. According to a recent letter, Pat is waiting with anticipation to see how he will shape up in competition with this world famous squad.

An Editorial . . .

BY THIS time the growers of fruit and vegetables in the Okanagan Valley will have had opportunity to consider, to some extent at least, the contents of the McGregor report, the main details of which were published in the last issue of this paper, and to consider it in many of its implications. The reaction to the report will undoubtedly be widespread and diversified.

First of all, there will doubtless be amazement that within the comparatively short space of time of about ten years from the time of the famous Nash exposures, there had been developed in connection with the marketing of fruit from the Okanagan Valley, a shipper-jobber combine identical in its essential details with the Nash organization which was the subject of the investigation made by Lewis Duncan, K.C., and of the charges which were heard before Mr. Justice McDonald in 1925. There will be amazement that the correspondence which passed between certain parties to the combine showed the same cold-blooded cynicism and the same disregard for the interests of the growers as was disclosed in the Nash correspondence.

There will, it is to be hoped, be a feeling of gratitude to Godfrey Isaacs for his courage in the face of heavy odds, and without fear of consequences personal to himself, in attacking a situation which was continuing to strangle the industry.

There will be commendation to all those who contributed so much towards the furtherance of the investigation, particularly to J. V. Clyne, the able counsel who brought out the facts in the preliminary investigation made by Mr. McGregor, as a result of which the formal investigation was ordered.

Perhaps, even, there will be on the part of the growers, some passing thought of gratitude towards the newspapers of the Okanagan Valley and in Vancouver, who forced the issue to such an extent that the investigation became inevitable. In connection with this last matter, this newspaper can only say that it hopes that it has lived up to the traditions of leadership given on so many occasions in the past in times of emergency by the press of Canada, and particularly by the weekly newspapers.

There will undoubtedly be many inquiries as to how such a situation as has been disclosed could be developed under the eyes of the members of the Marketing Board and of the British Columbia Fruit Growers Association, the two bodies charged with the protection of the interests of the growers.

There will doubtless be criticism of the Associated Growers of British Columbia Limited in connection with quantity discounts. In honesty and fairness may it be said first, that the essential evil is not the matter of quantity discounts but the matter of the combine, the control exercised by those who purchase from the growers and who are, therefore, concerned with purchasing at a low price, over the shippers whose duty it is to sell at the best price possible for the growers. The Associated Growers is, of course, not a party to the combine. It sells the fruit of its own growers and does not make a profit thereby. However, no apology for the system can be accepted. It would appear to have been the duty of the growers' co-operative to have taken a firm stand against the practice. Because of the action of the combine, a competitive situation had arisen in connection with which if the fruit belonging to the members of the Associated Growers was to be sold at all, it must be sold on the same terms as the fruit controlled by the combine, that is to say, on the basis of quantity discounts. It is to be said for the officials of the Associated Growers that at the time they fell in line with the practice of giving quantity discounts they were not aware of the actual existence of and the close connection between the parties to the combine—which is the main subject of attack in the McGregor report—and that as soon as they did become aware of the situation the Associated's representatives rendered the utmost in co-operation in righting a situation which meant ruin for the industry, frankly and fearlessly and without concern for the per-

McGuire, Loyd To Represent Valley At Fruit Parley

Export Situation Will Be Closely Studied At Ottawa Session

Major M. V. McGuire, of this city, will be leaving this evening, Thursday, summoned to Ottawa to attend a session of the National Apple Advisory Committee, of which he is a member.

Also going east is A. K. Loyd, of Kelowna, President of the B.C.F.G.A. The session is called for November 27.

The subject to be taken up at this conference, is to be the general fruit export situation, and the conditions to be faced as a result of the 50 percent embargo declaration of last week.

Since last week, when news of this development reached the Okanagan, leaders in the fruit industry have been remarkably busy. Wires and phone calls to Ottawa, conferences and sessions of all sorts, pre-

All Vernon Should Get More Light

Committee Decides

Valley Visitor

H. HOLICK-KENYON

AIR COMMODORE WELCOMED HERE

A noted visitor to Vernon this week was Air Commodore Herbert Hollick-Kenyon.

This famous flyer, whose reputation is really international, and who is now in the service of Trans-Canada Air Lines, spent a good part of Tuesday here while en route from Kamloops south through the Okanagan.

Earlier he had been to the Coast. He explained that in four or five days he expected to be back in Winnipeg, where his family now lives. Through the interior he travelled by bus.

"The Trans-Canada system is now thoroughly established," he said while here. "In the near future possibly a second line will be in operation." He also said that the authorities are at work on feeder line proposals.

While in this city for the short time between bus times, he contacted an old friend, Major H. R. Denison.

The committee now plans to marshal all its facts and prepare its program for a successful street lighting campaign. Their own slogan will probably be "If the Silver Star Committee can build a road to the top of a mountain starting from scratch, then we can certainly secure better street lighting for Vernon."

Those who attended the meeting were: Richard Peters, chairman, T. Everard Clarke, Capt. H. P. Coombes, W. B. Strachan, H. G. Bartholomew, C. Whitelaw, J. H. Montague, M. Beaven, and Pat Butler, the latter as representative of the Junior Board of Trade.

TAX PAYMENTS AT ALL-TIME PEAK VOLUME

Gross Income, This Year Passes All Records In Vernon History

The volume of civic tax receipts at the City Hall, paid by the due date last October 31, was the greatest in the history of Vernon.

Though the actual percentage of receipts in relation to the levy was down very slightly from the preceding year, a greater total assessment led to an enlarged gross income. Tax rate was unchanged, at 48 mills.

The payments made reached $108,278 on the city levy, as compared with the next greatest figure in the life of the city, which was $107,747 last year. In 1937 income in this way was $98,000.

In addition, the sum of $14,088 was collected in arrears on the 1938 and 1937 payments, and on the school district arrears. The total of arrears was placed at $21,641 before such payments were made.

Against the school district levy of $16,032 the sum of $10,180 was paid for 1938.

The full city levy this year was $122,851.37, and the payments amounted to 86.137 percent of that levy. Last year the income was 90.64 percent.

The city succeeded in taking more than its estimated income, in framing the budget, when 88 percent was the figure used.

City assessment on land is now placed at $1,255,535, and improvements at fifty percent, $1,240,605. The corresponding figures for the outside school district are $628,015 and $194,405.

DIVORCES GRANTED IN SUPREME COURT

Five divorces were granted in the Supreme Court by Justice A. M. Manson last week. No cases were from this city, as all originated in the southern part of the valley. None were defended.

The persons to whom they were granted are: John Arthur Love, of Grand Forks, from Marjorie A. Love; George Armstrong, of Penticton, from Kathleen Beatrice Armstrong; Christian Catherine Wilson, of Penticton, from Percy Wilson; Clara Ford, of Penticton, from H. D. W. Ford; and Wallace Ryder, of Kelowna, from Agnes Ryder.

Campaign For Improved System Planned At Tuesday Session

"The forces of evil thrive in the darkness." "That proverb, although I am not sure where it comes from, is absolutely true," said Everard Clarke, president of the Board of Trade, in speaking to the Board's electric light committee at its first meeting on Tuesday evening, "and that is what we are going to find in Vernon unless we secure a new system of street lighting for the entire city."

This opinion was given the full support of all those present.

That Vernon is trailing all surrounding cities in the matter of adequate street lighting was also a feeling that was freely expressed. Kelowna, Penticton, Kamloops, and Revelstoke are all better lighted than Vernon, it was claimed, and the only thing to do is to get the public to take a stand and see that new lighting is provided.

Richard Peters, chairman of the committee, explained to the members that plans had already been submitted to the city by the West Canadian Hydro Electric, more favorable power rates had been suggested if changes were made, and all the ground work had been completed, but the Council had not at the time when the suggestions had been submitted, seen its way clear to carry on with the street lighting improvements.

"The object of this committee," said Mr. Peters, "is to show the city that these improvements are not only needed, but that they are wanted by the public."

It was decided by those present that their aim will be to secure for Vernon better street lighting throughout the entire city.

As the scheme must have a starting point, however, four streets in the downtown business and residential sections were chosen for a better lighting.

Besides Barnard Avenue, Seventh and Whetnam Streets as far north as Pine Street, and Eighth Street as far as the Arena, were chosen as the first thoroughfares to be lighted under the scheme.

The reason for this action is that these streets carry the heaviest amount of traffic during the winter, when the hockey and skating season is in full swing, and the dangers of accident are more prevalent on them than on any other streets in the city at that time.

The committee now plans to marshal all its facts and prepare its program for a successful street lighting campaign. Their own slogan will probably be "If the Silver Star Committee can build a road to the top of a mountain starting from scratch, then we can certainly secure better street lighting for Vernon."

Those who attended the meeting were: Richard Peters, chairman, T. Everard Clarke, Capt. H. P. Coombes, W. B. Strachan, H. G. Bartholomew, C. Whitelaw, J. H. Montague, M. Beaven, and Pat Butler, the latter as representative of the Junior Board of Trade.

ALBERT MILLAR RESIGNS FROM EXECUTIVE POST

Oliver Grower Retains Governor's Position—Disagrees With Others

Albert Millar has resigned as a member of the executive of the Board of Governors, the growers' group that supervises B.C. Tree Fruit.

His action was confirmed at last Saturday morning, as the aftermath of discussion on the preceding day when he took a view opposed to that of the balance of the board.

Mr. Millar, of Oliver, who is one of two growers representing the southern area, held the view that control could be maintained in the future on a voluntary basis. The others, claiming that the lessons of the past thirty years very clearly pointed in the opposite direction, did not agree.

The consequence has been that Mr. Millar has resigned from the executive, though continuing as a governor. His place on the executive has been taken by W. R. Powell, of Summerland.

A. T. Howe, of Vernon, is the other general member of the board on the executive.

"There is sufficient combined thinking to guarantee control," commented Mr. Millar at Friday morning's session.

Strong opposition to this view was first expressed by Mr. Powell. "With ninety percent of what Mr. Millar says we are all in agreement. But when it comes to the point where the growers are getting rid of control, it's where a stop, surely we know better. All our past ex-

MISS DORIS PAYNTER AND JOHN MADDOCK UNITED IN MARRIAGE

Pretty Wedding Ceremony Is Solemnized In Westbank Church

WESTBANK, B.C., Nov. 20.—St. George's Church, Westbank, was the scene of a pretty wedding on Thursday, November 9, when Doris Mary C. Paynter, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Paynter, became the bride of John William Maddock, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Maddock, of Peachland. Ven. Archdeacon Solly, officiated.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, looked lovely in a gown of white velvet, trimmed with white fur, with veil and orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of pink roses and white carnations and was attended by her sister, Mrs. V. Yeulet, as matron of honor, and the Misses J. Paynter and J. Maddock, as bridesmaids, dressed in transparent velvet dresses in pastel shades and carrying bouquets of pink and gold chrysanthemums.

The groom was supported by A. Topham, of Peachland.

The reception was held in the Westbank Community Hall, which had been decorated for the occasion with autumn flowers. More than two hundred guests were present. Later, Mr. and Mrs. Maddock left for the Coast, and on their return will make their home in Peachland.

The Rev. Mr. Shatto, of Oroville, accompanied by his sister, Mrs. Nettlesley, of Tonasket, spent several days last week with Mr. Shatto's son and daughter-in-law, in Westbank. They returned to their homes on Sunday.

The regular meeting of the Women's Auxiliary of the United Church was held on Thursday, November 16, at the home of Mrs. L. L. Hawley, with a social hour and refreshments. Following the usual business, the annual bazaar was discussed and plans were made for holding it early in December.

Rev. J. D. Gilliam, of Peachland, took the service in Westbank United Church on Sunday, November 19, in the absence of Rev. W. E. Dovey, who was indisposed. Next Sunday the United Church is holding a special anniversary service, as it was a year ago this month since the church was dedicated.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Cripps are receiving congratulations on the birth of a son, at Kelowna Hospital, on Wednesday, November 15.

High school pupils met at the home of Miss Joan Pritchard on Friday evening for the first of a series of parties arranged by their teachers and themselves.

CALL MUNICIPAL SESSION

A meeting of the Okanagan Municipal Association is to be held in Kelowna on November 30, when the results of the recent convention of the Union of B.C. Municipalities will be under review.

H.H. Stevens Scores Attitude Of Large Cities To Farmers

Becomes Caustic When Referring To Statements of C.C.F. Members

REVELSTOKE, B.C., Nov. 23.—Speaking at a joint dinner meeting of the Rotary Club, the City Council and the two Boards of Trade, Hon. H. H. Stevens, M.P., Kootenay East, scored people in the industrial centres who were attempting to stir up feeling against the farmer because the price of farm products had risen a little in recent months.

"Such people are saying that the farmer is taking an unfair advantage of the situation. This is not so. There has been no unfair advantage. The farmer has suffered more than any other class of people. Unless the farmer is in a sound condition no other branch of activity can benefit if for no other reason than that he constitutes about half the population."

This pronouncement was greeted with cheers. The speaker quoted at length from statistics by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics to show that there had been no abnormal increase in commodity prices.

Mr. Stevens discussed loose talking, loose thinking and loose legislation and advised against the careless use of such expressions as conscription of wealth and profiteering. "There was only one fair way of conscripting wealth, and that was by adopting the communistic doctrine," he remarked.

"Be careful," he said, "before you advocate something which will mean stepping out of the freedom and liberty we enjoy today into the bondage of totalitarianism."

As for profiteering, he was convinced that the business men of Canada were "honest, decent, fair and ethical" and would not be party to any attempts at profiteering. But if, however, isolated instances of profiteering occurred it was the duty of any one aware of such to report the circumstances to the proper authorities.

The former Federal cabinet minister referred to his twenty years of intimate friendship with Neville Chamberlain and declared him to have the courage of a gentleman. "No man has a higher standard of public service or places a higher value on truth and honesty than Neville Chamberlain," he declared.

He was caustic in his allusions to provincial members of the C.C.F. who he charged were "taking advantage of the liberality of the Government to make statements in the legislature which are absolutely false."

He chided that political group for urging Great Britain to intervene in Spain three years ago against Fascism when they were opposed to sending an expeditionary

The Most Valuable Product of the Okanagan IS NOT APPLES— But Children

"The vocational training of youth is our most important problem."

Such was the theme stressed by R. O. Palmer, the superintendent of the government experimental station at Summerland, who spoke before the Peachland Education Week banquet held on Wednesday of last week.

The full text of his interesting address follows:

The most valuable product of the Okanagan is not apples but children. There are many who consider that marketing of the fruit crop is a piece which will return a fair profit to the grower, constitutes the Okanagan's most important problem. Sale of the fruit crop to advantage is indeed a problem of vital importance deserving our most careful attention. Nevertheless, there is an even greater problem facing fruit growers in the Okanagan Valley: the education of their children. Healthy orchards, gigantic cold storage houses, railways and roads, are all great assets, but our greatest asset is our boys and girls. With proper guidance they will make a real contribution to the welfare of our country, but if they are neglected and allowed to drift they can become a terrible liability.

The high quality of Okanagan fruit is due largely to favorable environment. The same bright sunshine and clear air which develop the attractive appearance and delightful flavor of our apples are equally favorable to the development of children. Boys and girls who grow up in the Okanagan Valley tend to be taller and broader than their parents with the same age. Plenty of fruit and vegetables in the diet combined with a marvelous climate provide ideal conditions for physical development.

The responsibility of parents and teachers to provide the most favorable conditions for development of the mind.

Solution of the unemployment problem depends on the vocational training of youth. Never in the history of the world has there been a greater demand for trained men and women than there is today. Especially in the case of youth, those who combine trained minds with manual dexterity and keen powers of observation. Canada is well supplied with lawyers, politicians, financiers, and salesmen, but there is a real shortage of trained mechanics, skilled technicians, specialized artisans and master farmers.

This is an age of speed—we are all in a hurry to get to some destination, and as soon as we get there we are in a hurry to go somewhere else or to get back home again. Modern methods of transportation enable us to travel from one place to another without seeing the beauty of the landscape along the route. We are often in so much of a rush that we fail to observe the opportunities and responsibilities which surround us on every side—in too great a hurry to see life in proper perspective.

When grown men and women are thrown out of their normal steady course by the gyrations of the "dominant speed," it is little wonder that in their youth, growing up in this hectic atmosphere, develop an inordinate desire to go places—to break away from their school work—to get rich quick. Too many boys leave school to take a temporary job which offers attractive wages, only to discover in later years that their failure to attain matriculation standing bars them from a fuller and more abundant life.

In British Columbia we are fortunate. Our educational authorities recognize that the school curriculum must be changed to meet modern conditions—that a "new model" educational system must be brought into being if our young people are to be developed into useful citizens. Less attention is now given to mathematics and more to social science, creative art and the business of living. An attempt is made to develop self-reliance, initiative, resourcefulness and the ability to work with others. Children are encouraged to do things and make things for themselves. They are also encouraged to read extensively to the end that their lives may be enriched by an appreciation of literature and by a knowledge of events which are taking place throughout the world.

It is the responsibility of parents to encourage their children to take advantage of the progressive high school training which is now being

"Red Patch Eminence" is a triple bred "Polled Climax" This latter is the bull that was chosen from all bulls in America to compete with prize English Herefords. He traces straight to "Anxiety 4th," the great horned bull which has made Herefords so famous in America. Wiedemans are being congratulated on their choice, as it will not only improve their own herd, but will go a long way in improving the already good Herefords in the Valley.

Mrs. Orville Anderson, of Burns Lake, is here with her children to spend the winter months with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Campbell Johnston.

Quite a number of Lavington ladies are assisting with Red Cross work. Wool is being distributed to those who wish to knit socks, and young members have expressed their wish to take First-Aid courses. Mrs. W. C. Ricardo and Miss Mary Jackson are assisting the Vernon branch of Red Cross and have undertaken this week to canvass the district for contributions. The Junior Red Cross, including several small girls, are busy with sewing meetings under the supervision of Mrs. Claude Hubbard and will hold a bazaar in the school early next month.

Harry Smith shot a fine buck last Sunday.

Walter and Jack Wills spent a day last week at the home of their grandfather, "Scotty" Smith, before the pheasant season closed.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerry Wills paid a visit to Mr. and Mrs. Bill Mackie last week.

Dick Blankley shot a horned owl a few days ago while out pheasant hunting.

Mrs. G. Osborn left this week to spend a few months at the Coast, where she will be the guest of her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. David Moss.

ELEMENTARY SCHOOL FOOTBALL TROPHY IS WON BY OYAMA

Team Defeats Vernon Boys 1-0 In Final Game To Take Championship

OYAMA, B.C., Nov. 20.—The Oyama Public School has had two football teams in the field this season, both having been in active competition with Winfield. Recently the "A" team won the North Okanagan Elementary School championship in competition at Armstrong.

In their first game the Oyama boys defeated the Vernon Elementary School "B" team 1-0 in their second they tied with Armstrong 0-0 and in the third and final game they defeated the Vernon Elementary School "A" team 1-0.

In the first fixture the lone goal was scored by the combined efforts of Arnold Trewhitt and Edward Gallacher from an excellent centre by Verney Craig.

In the second, both the Armstrong and Oyama teams displayed flashes of very clever football, but through nervousness both teams failed to score.

In the third and last tilt there was little to choose between the two opposing teams. The sportsmanship on both sides was of a very high calibre. The one goal was the result of a high lob by Arnold Trewhitt which Edward Gallacher followed up and brought to a successful finish.

Four minutes remained to play during which time it appeared that Vernon would tie the score, but they were foiled by the excellent netting of Bill Taylor, who several times saved what appeared to be certain goals.

Malcolm Dowar, Arnold Trewhitt, Edward Gallacher and Verney Craig gave a good performance on the forward line, while Arthur Dunn, Kenneth Ellison, David Whipple, and Frank Allingham were towers of strength on the defence.

The tournament was wound up by a banquet at the Armstrong Recreational Hall, during which the friendly relations between the various teams spoke volumes of the high standard of sportsmanship of the young Okanagan athletes. The Football Trophy, which the Oyama lads won, spoke volumes for the presented to the captain, Arnold Trewhitt, by Mr. Lee.

Women's Institutes Meet In Penticton To Hold Conference

Organization Urges That More Mature Fruit Be Shipped From Valley

PEACHLAND, B.C., Nov. 20.—Fruit shippers in the Okanagan Valley are to be urged to demand more mature fruit, according to a resolution passed by the Okanagan and Similkameen Districts of the Women's Institute, in conference at Penticton on Thursday of last week. A resolution was also passed asking for consideration for Okanagan Falls in their effort to get some redress from the hopeless situation caused by lack of water since their dam collapsed.

Mrs. H. McGregor, Federated and Provincial President of the Women's Institutes, gave an interesting address on Associated Countrywomen of the World convention which she attended this summer and the Federated Women's Institutes of Canada convention held at Edmonton in October.

Mrs. V. Robinson, of Penticton, presided at the gathering with Mrs. G. Gummow, of Peachland, acting as secretary. Reeve Wilkins officially welcomed the delegates with Mrs. P. Simpson, of Osoyoos, presiding. Mr. Wilkins referred to the speech of Her Majesty the Queen on November 11 when she said "Fortitude is the lot of women in time of war" and he felt that the women who had done such splendid work in peace time would continue this work of home building in time of war.

In her President's address Mrs. Robinson also referred to Her Majesty's address to the women of the Empire November 11. She felt that this was a very excellent code for living, and as both Queen Elizabeth and Queen Mary were W.I. members what better example could the Institutes seek than that given by them.

Mrs. B. F. Gummow, of Peachland, Provincial convener of Legislation, spoke of the work done by Judge Helen Gregory MacGill in compiling the booklet, "Laws for Women and Children in B.C." and explained the simple way in which the book was written so that it might be used readily by all Institutes.

Mrs. McGregor told of the meeting of representatives from 39 countries and 113 organizations to form the Associated Countrywomen of the World. This group had been organized to promote international understanding. "The homes of the country has built the nation at large. These many nationalities shared in home life and home understanding to promote international neighborliness," she said.

The resolution regarding Okanagan Falls came after the report from that Institute by Mrs. Mallory. The sum of $100 had been raised by the Institute to defend their claims. They were now in danger of eviction and loss of all they had. Sympathy was expressed by the conference and the following resolution passed unanimously: "We, the Women's Institutes of the Okanagan and Similkameen in conference assembled at Penticton, request the sympathetic attention of the government of B.C. to the situation in Okanagan Falls, where, through no fault of their own, the people are in danger of losing their homes and all they possess because of the lack of irrigation facilities for the last three years, and in consequence of which many who would otherwise earn their own living are now on relief."

The resolution regarding the green state of Okanagan fruit on the market arose from a discussion on that point when reference was made to Miss Katherine Middleton's complaint that fruit reached the market too green. The same complaint had been made from other sources and in the discussion it was pointed out that the growers picked the fruit knowing it was too green, but because there was a call for it from the packing houses to fill mixed cars.

Delegates were present from Kelowna to Osoyoos and Keremeos while reports of the Institutes were given from Winfield, Okanagan Centre, Rutland, East Kelowna, Kelowna, Westbank, Peachland, Summerland, Penticton, Penticton Business Women's Institute, Okanagan Falls, Oliver, Osoyoos and Keremeos.

The invitation of the Winfield and Okanagan Centre Institutes to have the Conference there next year was accepted. Mrs. McGuffie, of Keremeos, was elected president and Mrs. L. B. M. Clarke, of Keremeos, secretary.

NEW RECEIVERS FAR CRY FROM CRYSTAL SETS

Modernization Brings Countless New Features For Enjoyment And Convenience of Dealers

Just push a button—and the world is brought into your home, right here in Vernon. That is the magic of radio. A few years ago a radio set was definitely a luxury.
Today it is a part of every home, as essential as any piece of furniture.
More than that, a radio set is designed as a natural fixture in the automobile, the portable transports the world to any desired spot.
From the lowly experimental crystal set, the radio receiver has developed swiftly and amazingly into a streamlined, ornamental and elaborate theatre within the reach of the home. Such is the 1940 model no matter what the make or size.
The 1940 modernization of the radio set brings countless new features for the convenience, comfort, pleasure, pride and entertainment of listeners. Built in aerials eliminate unsightly outside poles and wires; push buttons quickly tune in on the stations; the set can be turned on from the station can be changed from the part of the house by developed for certain sets. Most of the sets are equipped to be converted to television when that new type of entertainment is definitely established.

VARIED ENTERTAINMENT
Radio brings into the home—or any place where a set can be placed —every type of entertainment, educational programs, governmental activities and world affairs. Dialers are taken to the European war fronts, particularly through the medium of short wave, an outstanding feature of every make of radio.
England, France, Australia, Japan,
Germany, every part of the civilized world can be easily visited by radio via the airways.
The sets also provide intimate thrilling, unusual contacts with airplanes and bring in the familiar "Calling All Cars" of police broadcasting stations.
For example, the broadcaster's agreement in regard to first hand coverage of battle scarred areas specifies that "taste and judgment" must be used in preventing such broadcasts from being unduly harrowing.

It is agreed that the keynote of broadcasting shall be to keep the radio audience on this side of the Atlantic as completely and fairly informed as possible.
As a result they have adopted their regulations pertaining to news-casting to war. As in broadcasting of peace time news, they have pledged to avoid horror, suspense, and undue excitement.
In war as in peace, the broadcasters are mindful that there are stories that can be covered and not by the spoken word, which is speedy,
which can not be recalled, checked or double checked, and which may be misunderstood or only partially heard.

HOCKEY ASSOCIATION HEARS FAVORABLE REPORTS AT MEETING

Registration Fee Is Set At $3.00 For Each Club
In League

ARMSTRONG, B.C., Nov. 20.—
The annual meeting of the North Okanagan Hockey Association was held in Armstrong on Wednesday of last week with four clubs, Salmon Arm, Kelowna, Vernon and Armstrong, represented. All expressed regret that Lumby had found it necessary to drop out of the league.
The delegates registered were: T.
Middleton, C. Turner, Salmon Arm;
Dr. L. A. Fenton, H. Kennedy,
Kelowna; J. E. Montague, G. Whitehead, Vernon; B. Fletcher, H. Akerman, Armstrong.

The president, R. S. Gullivan, gave a report on the past season's activities in which he thanked the members of the executive for the splendid co-operation they had given him. The secretary-treasurer submitted a financial report which showed the association to have a credit balance.

The question of the registration of the clubs taken up and after some discussion it was decided that the registration fee be set at $3.00 for each club and if the club dropped out of its own accord the fee would be "forfeited" but if the club was ruled out the fee would be refunded.
There was considerable discussion of the referees during which the need for uniformity in their work was stressed. It was ultimately left to the executive to appoint referees from names of suitable men to be put forward by the clubs and that a meeting with the appointed referees be held in order to have uniformity in the interpretation of the rules.

A motion put forward by Vernon that the annual meeting of the association be held not later than October 25 instead of November 15, as at present, was adopted. The need for this change was necessitated by the earlier start of play owing to artificial ice being now available.

The executive was authorized to draw up a schedule for league play, the games to start as near as possible to December 1.
A suggestion was made that all the clubs in the league take part in the playoffs but did not receive much support. It was pointed out that if this course was followed it would cut out the competitive spirit from the league games if all teams were to be in the play-offs instead of eliminating the lower placed. A motion that there be a three way play off was carried.

It was decided that this association register with the B.C.A.H.A.

nosis and treatment. Expression of voiced at the City Council meeting on Monday night when the request for the leave of absence was granted.

provided in this way for 58 people.
Stating that he has been the spotlight around the Arena recently.
Very satisfactory crowds have been turning out to all the periods and the interest this year seems to be greater than ever before. Perhaps one of the most frequent queries heard comes from the out-of-town spectators who, after they have longingly watched the swirling figures on the ice, turn plaintively to the box office and ask "Do you rent skates here?"

"Tug-of-war on skates." That is the new sport that has been developed in the Arena by the "rink-rats." Last Monday night, several of them grouped together and challenged a team, from the skaters on the ice at that time, to a tug-of-war. A rope was duly produced and the two sides made the contest depend on the fact that the rope broke three times during the titanic struggle it did not seem to make much difference to the contest and certainly added to the fun for the spectators. As a result of this heroic encounter, the hockey team has challenged the "rink-rats" to a contest of strength which will be decided during the skating period tonight, Thursday.

Latest word from the Hydro-phones is highly encouraging. This season there are to be two teams open for play, appearing under the banners of this popular youthful aggregation. These will be a juvenile team, which will include most of the Hydrophones of last season, and a midget team, which will be recruited from the best of the city's youngsters of the year under. The juvenile age limit is 17 years. The Hydrophones are now negotiating for a game with Revelstoke to be played in the near future.

CORRESPONDENCE

Hembling Replies

Editor, The Vernon News, Sir:
In the November 16 issue of The Vernon News there appeared an open letter to me over the name in Mrs. Daisy C. Millar, of Oliver, whoever that may be.
The name of Millar is quite familiar but in all my experiences
I have never associated it with daisies.
This person suggested that I might apologize to Mr. Isaacs for statements I made at a Pentecost meeting and refers to certain captions in the valley press at the time.
For the captions referred to I am not responsible, as for the statements I made these stand and I apologize to no one.
Mr. McGregor in his report has found that a combine had existed that may be detrimental to the fruit industry.
Whether this combine has been detrimental or otherwise, this fact remains that the fruit industry in the past has suffered more from competition than it has from a combine, and many of his findings that have been detrimental to the industry were brought about because of competition set up by the growers, and for which they are wholly responsible.
Whether the combine named in the McGregor report has been detrimental or otherwise it was a setup that could not be permitted to continue because of the possible detrimental effect it might have in the future.
For this reason I circualarized every registered grower setting forth the conditions as I saw them, and suggested a remedy before the charges were made by Mr. Isaacs, and before he had been given the information which he used in his report.
Did the grower pay any attention to this circular? No! It was just another of Hembling's many attempts to bring about Central Selling.
Some growers have even been kind enough to say that I took these steps after it was known that Isaacs was going to bring up a statement having made such a statement. He has either been misinformed or else he is a deliberate liar.
According to a recent article in The Vancouver Province Mr. Isaacs is supposed to have stated that Central Selling would not now be in effect greater than the fees he charges he made. This is just so much more baloney of the kind that many growers seem to appreciate.
Everything that has been accomplished by the matter had been handled by the growers appointed representatives in a sane and business like manner instead of an individual who is responsible to no one, and the cost comparatively speaking would have been a mere trifle, and the result possibly more beneficial, but with someone's apparent desire to destroy the statement rather than serve the industry in the best manner possible, the growers' representatives were denied the privilege that rightly was theirs.
If the fruit growers of the Okanagan could but arrange up their minds to accept the advice of those who have been continuously giving them sound advice instead of following the lead of impractical theorists there might be some hope for the industry.
The world at large is suffering from various "Impractical" ideas among them is Hitlerism, and in my humble opinion, the fruit industry at the present time is suffering or going to suffer because of Hitlerism, or Millarism.
Yours very truly,
O. W. HEMBLING.

B.C.F.G.A. ANNUAL CONVENTION DATES ARE JANUARY 10-12

Arrangement Hinges On Horticultural Council Sessions

British Columbia Fruit Growers' Association annual convention will be held in Pentecost on Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday, January 10, 11 and 12, 1940.
The date of the convention was the decision of the executive at an all day meeting in Kelowna on Monday. The dates hinge upon the Canadian Horticultural Council convention. Last year the B.C.F.G.A. convention was in Vernon and for three years previously in Kelowna.

Among the interesting topics likely will be the introduction of proposals for the development of B.C. Tree Fruits Limited, so that the selling agency may still further control the marketing of vegetables and fruits.

"Two problems appear paramount on the horizon for the advancement of the growers' interests," said Dave McNair at the Monday meeting. Consideration of the domestic and export deals under one head is the first and the second is pooling the export and domestic deals. The present method of export, is difficult and expensive. It makes it difficult to move the product at the time when it should be moved. Pooling presents problems of uniformity and service. The present arrangement under which export deals are made, is not at once apparent. An exporter can size up what he should do to move certain sizes and grades, but Tree Fruits Limited finds difficulties not having the complete picture of the export and domestic deals. Possible changes in the deal for the coming year were considered by the Board of Governors of B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd. in Kelowna on Saturday morning.

Growers' association committees might be brought into the Tree Fruits Ltd. Board, K. Lloyd indicated. An advertising department may have to be established.

An "embryo" collective bargaining department for the growers, is an idea that has been brought forward.

There is a possibility that Tree Fruits will have to deal separately next year with more independent houses. This would mean a further increase in the work of the single agency. The position of the Associated Growers will also have to be taken into consideration, Mr. Lloyd continued.

Among the suggestions brought forward by the governors, a uniform packing and hauling charge was discussed. It was stated that there is no power under present arrangements to force such a charge. With the division of export and domestic deals, there are no figures to give to the growers from Tree Fruits returns which would allow the grower to tell exactly what his shipper received for the produce handled.

AEROPLANE CRASHES— NO LIVES LOST

There were no fatalities in Vernon's first aeroplane crash this year. For that matter there were no passengers and not even a pilot in the aeroplane that crashed.

On Saturday, November 11, Roy Peters took a gasoline powered model aeroplane, which he had built, to the cricket grounds on Hillhead and from the pitch there, launched his small machine which was driven by a one-fifth horse power engine and had a wing spread of six feet.
The aeroplane circled twice over the large field above the cricket ground and was seen to head out towards Kalamalka Lake. It then apparently circled back over the city and when its owner next saw it, the machine was heading for the mountains behind the race track.
He lost sight of it again but headed his car in the direction where he had last seen it. In the meantime, according to reports that were heard later, the small plane circled above the hill. Those who saw it, thought of the sound of the engine and its size that it must be a large machine flying in the distance. The motor suddenly died out and the aeroplane started to come down in a spin and disappeared from sight.

Someone, on seeing this, telephoned to Jim Duce and told him that a large machine had crashed. He immediately took his own machine into the air to search for the scene of the disaster.
In the meantime, Roy Peters located the model in the centre of the race track where it had landed. The extent of the damage was one badly buckled undercarriage.

PASSING OF "BOB" BULWER REGRETTED

The news of the sudden passing of Robert "Bob" Bulwer in the Royal Inland Hospital at Kamloops on Friday came as a distinct shock to his many friends in this city and district.
"Bob," as he was popularly known, had not been well since this summer but none of his friends realized that the nature of his illness was so serious. He went to the hospital at Kamloops just about two weeks before he died and underwent an operation for mastoid. Complications set in and he passed away shortly after.

He was born in Vernon on November 11, 1898, and observed his 21st birthday while in the hospital at Kamloops. He went to school in Vernon and lived all his life in this district.
Perhaps his greatest interests were horses and hockey. "Bob" was an inveterate horseman and there was nothing he enjoyed more than working with race horses, getting them into trim, and helping in their training during the racing season.
If he had not taken ill this fall he would have had an opportunity to satisfy his interest to the full by accompanying some of the local horses on their tour through the state of Washington earlier this fall visiting many tracks. To his keen disappointment, however, his health would not permit him to make the trip.
He was an ardent hockey fan and maintained his interest in the sport during the days that he spent in the Royal Inland Hospital.
Funeral services were held from the Vernon United Church on Monday afternoon with the Rev. Dr. Jenkins in charge, officiating.
He is survived by his father, B. R. Bulwer, of this city; two brothers, Victor Bulwer and Leonard Bulwer, both of Vernon; and five sisters, Mrs. Mary Oland, of Hedley, Miss Esther Bulwer, of Vancouver, and Miss Edith Bulwer, Mrs. C. Akerman and Mrs. John Peters, of this city.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Hall Observe Their Golden Wedding Anniversary

One of this city's best known old time couples, Mr. and Mrs. William Hall, received the congratulations of their many friends here on Sunday as they celebrated their golden wedding anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Hall came to Vernon in 1903 and during the past 36 years they have seen the community grow from the village it was then to the city it is now, the hub of the Okanagan.

Many much of a place to look at in those early days but that he and his wife have watched and taken part in its development until it is one of the province's prettiest towns.

Mr. and Mrs. Hall were married in Morden, Manitoba, on November 19, 1893. Before her marriage, Mrs. Hall's name was Miss Annie Turner.

They have both been very active in the Salvation Army here. Mr. Hall was the one who was primarily responsible for bringing the Army into Vernon. He has been connected with the organization for many years and never in all that time has he ever let his interest in the work wane. He has also always been a staunch supporter of the Army's Band, in which he plays the cornet.

In recognition of this support, a very pleasing little ceremony was performed at the Salvation Army Hall on Sunday evening after the regular service. A presentation from the organization was made to Mr. Hall by Adjutant Rose Weir. Sergeant Major S. Ward, on behalf of the corps and comrades, paid tribute to the work done by Mr. and Mrs. Hall in the service. Because of her health, Mrs. Hall was not able to be present, but she was fully remembered in the tribute that was paid.

Besides this reception, a family reunion was held at Mr. and Mrs. Hall's home with all their family resident in this city present. In addition to this, many friends called to pay their respects during the day.

Those of their family who attended the reunion were their two daughters, Mrs. R. E. Postill and Mrs. H. J. Phillips, and their two sons, W. H. Hall and Harold Hall. Their third daughter, Mrs. P. M. Oole, of Calgary, was unable to be present.

Different Method Of Financing B.C.F.G.A. Is Now Being Sought

Necessity Of Providing For Levy Urged On Government

A different method of financing the operations of the B.C.F.G.A. is to be sought. The executive of the Association, at the meeting in Kelowna, B.C., on November 10, stated that the Association press on the government the necessity for providing for a levy under the act to take care of the expenses authorized by the growers in convention for their Association.

The request has been made before the government has been charged of giving authority.
The levy asked is a fifth of a cent per box.

The only other way to raise funds is that in use through the "good offices" of the shippers.

Edmonton has been a better market than Calgary this year, though the situation in the latter centre has improved through the operations by O. W. Hembling and Steve Temple of a sub-central office at Creston. Markets adjacent to the Crow's Nest suffer from the trucking and the operations of the Doukhobors. Such facts were brought out during the discussions.

C. S. Squires, Robson, expressed the opinion that growers in the area from which he comes would like to have B.C. Tree Fruits designated as the sole agency under the legislation.

It was pointed out there was no such wish at Kamloops and that they were asking to be taken out of the area under control. President A. K. Loyd said there is no monopoly in the Okanagan and it was further stated that the Kamloops idea that their fruit is ready earlier than in some districts in the Okanagan is a myth, they would speedily lose if there were no regulation of the movement of fruits.
Examination of the expenses of operating the Association was urged by Capt. D. M. Ratray, Salmon Arm. He said they were continually taking on new duties and building up expense. There was a time when their operations cost about $5,000. Now they are $11,000 to $12,000. Chief items of expenditure were given as payments to locals, County Life, Secretary's salary, convention, subscription to the Canadian Horticultural Council, and to the Chamber of Agriculture. The latter item is to be scrutinized to see if the fruit growers are bearing any more than their fair share of the load.

The prices paid for cull apples were criticized and the answer was that in Ontario culls are given without charge to processing plants and the processors with lower labor costs, getting supplies without charge, are able to sell at prices which B.C. plants must meet if they are to continue in business.

A. K. Loyd intimated his desire to retire from the presidency of the Association after, as P. J. M. LeGuen expressed it, having given excellent services for a long period. Mr. Loyd said it is time for a change and if he continues as president of Tree Fruits Limited, he did not think he could carry both positions.

tions set in and he passed away shortly after.
He was born in Vernon on November 11, 1898, and observed his 21st birthday while in the hospital at Kamloops. He went to school in Vernon and lived all his life in this district.

RED CROSS CAMPAIGN TO CONCLUDE HERE ON TUESDAY NEXT

Canvassers To Turn In Books For Year—Many Classes Active

Although complete figures will not be available until next week, the officials in charge of the Red Cross Campaign for funds in this district have expressed their appreciation of the whole hearted support that the residents of Vernon and the surrounding area have so far given.

The campaign here, in conjunction with the nation-wide drive, started on Monday of last week and those in charge of the arrangements have asked that all canvassers turn in their books by Tuesday of next week, November 28, so that a final check on the amount of money collected can be made. This will mark the close of the canvass for the year.

Owing to the short time in which the campaign was organized, the local committee feels that some mistakes may have been made and that some places may have been canvassed more than once while others were not reached at all. It is hoped that any who were not visited by the canvassers and who wish to contribute to the fund will do so by leaving their donations with any of the local banks.

On Wednesday afternoon of this week, the Red Cross rooms in the John Vernon News building were opened for the first time to distribute the wool and supplies that are to be made up into Red Cross supplies.

Representatives of a great many women's organizations received the materials and the officers of the Women's Work Committee are highly pleased with the response shown. From the time it opened in the morning to its closing time in the afternoon, the rooms were continually busy distributing the supplies.

In future, the room will be open from 12 to 5 o'clock in the afternoons on Tuesdays and from 1 to 5 o'clock on Saturdays to give out materials and to receive the finished articles.

In addition to this work, the home nursing classes and the St. John Ambulance classes are going steadily ahead with their programs and there has been no slackening of interest whatever shown in these branches of the work. Several of those taking the courses have already been given examinations but results are not yet available.

HOWIE COMMENTS ON ARENA'S FINANCING

"It was the summer sports that hurt the arena during last season," remarked Alderman David Howie, when commenting on the recently released financial statement of the Vernon Civic Arena.

Speaking before the City Council meeting on Monday night, he said that winter sports "had more than paid their way with very big attendances."

"This is supposed to be a civic matter," said Alderman A. C. Wilde. "When we are to get a copy of that statement? How is it that we read details of this in The Vernon News before it comes before the Council?"

JACOB NIGHTINGALE DIES

OF SUDDEN HEART ATTACK

An inquiry conducted by Dr. O. Morris on Wednesday afternoon of last week found that Jacob Nightingale, of Enderby, aged about 60 years, had died of natural causes.

Mr. Nightingale passed away suddenly on Wednesday of last week in the rooms of a local apartment house. He had been standing talking to a friend when suddenly he fell forward, dead. His demise is attributed to a heart attack.

GOING OVERSEAS

A great many of his friends in this city gathered at the railway station on Tuesday evening to wish Constable Archie White "God's speed" as he left on a trip that will take him to Ottawa and eventually overseas with the Royal Canadian Mounted Police Provost Company. Mr. White, who has been stationed with the R.C.M.P. at Jasper, Alberta, for several months, arrived here early on Sunday to spend a few days with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John White, before leaving for the east.

Town and District

H. J. Fosbrooke was a business visitor to Kelowna for two days this week.

Miss Frances Christensen returned here on Monday after ten days spent on holiday in Oliver.

Miss Isobel Simms, of Vancouver, was a visitor here over the week end at the home of her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Simms.

Mrs. A. B. Collier arrived in this city on Wednesday of last week from Coquille, Oregon, to spend a visit here at the home of her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. C. Brosi.

As is their yearly custom, D. A. McNeill, Bryson Whyte, K. W. Kinard, and John White are hunting deer in the Shuswap district. The first three members of the party left this city on Sunday while Mr. White joined them later in the week.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Johnston and Miss Nina Kennedy are motoring today, Thursday, to Vancouver. Mr. and Mrs. Johnston will spend a short visit at the Coast while Miss Kennedy, who has been visiting here for several weeks, is returning to her home.

The statement, "It's just like spring" used in describing the weather of the past few weeks had ample backing this week when A. Heywood, of Heywood's Corner, brought into The Vernon News office a pansy that he picked recently in the garden behind his home.

While her father, the Hon. Mr. Justice A. M. Manson was in this city presiding at the sessions of the Supreme Court, Miss Marguerite Manson, organizer for the Junior Red Cross Society, Vancouver, visited a number of the groups in this district in connection with the society's activities.

Mrs. W. H. Meredith arrived in this city from Vancouver on Saturday to spend a holiday at the home of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Fergus Muttie. Mrs. Meredith is known to many here whose acquaintance she made during her previous visit a few years ago.

The Rev. Dr. Jenkin H. Davies, of the Vernon United Church, and Rev. Dr. W. W. McPherson, of the Kelowna United Church, will exchange pulpits on Sunday when each will take the services in the other's church. The Vernon Church will hold a special anniversary service on Sunday and on the following Tuesday, the annual anniversary supper will be held in the Central building. The guest speaker at the latter affair will be the Rev. Dr. E. D. Braden, of Vancouver.

T. Crabtree, western manager of the General Exchange Insurance Corporation, Calgary, and J. A. Pitman, of the company's head office at Oshawa, Ontario, were business visitors here for a few days this week. While here, Mr. Pitman visited the Arena and remarked that "it is a wonderful accomplishment for a town of this size." The two men left here on Tuesday to attend a meeting of General Motors dealers in Kelowna that evening. Several members of the Vernon Garage also attended the meeting. They were H. B. Monk, J. S. Monk, H. Fisher, V. Allen, and J. DeFour.

Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Onions and their young son Donald are leaving this coming week end for Vancouver to which city Mr. Onions has been transferred by the B.C. of Montreal. Mr. and Mrs. Onions will be greatly missed here as in their two years' residence they have been very active in several organizations. Mr. Onions is the president of the Little Theatre group. His successor in the bank here, J. Manson, accompanied by Mrs. Manson and their daughter.

The provincial police received word here on Wednesday that a number of blank cheques had been stolen from the office of the British Columbia Orchards Ltd., at Kelowna. These cheques, which are pink in color and in amount with the Royal Bank, may be put into circulation as forgeries and the police are warning all merchants not to cash any without careful investigation. Not many years ago a similar theft was made from the Simpson Lumber Company in Kelowna and a number of the cheques taken then were later cashed by unsuspecting Vernon merchants. Police hope that through their warnings such a thing will not happen again.

Mrs. Douglas Mackenzie, of Kelowna, is visiting her sister, Mrs. T. A. Hill, in this city.

Mr. and Mrs. J. G. West and their young daughter Sharon, left on Sunday for Vancouver, where they will spend a week while Mr. West is at the Coast on business.

Col. E. B. Westby, president of the West Canadian Hydro Electric Corporation, was a business visitor to this city on Monday and Tuesday of this week.

Red Cross funds will be enlarged by the sum of $27.10, the proceeds from the United Church bazaar held at the home of Mrs. Morris Middleton on Friday, November 17. The bazaar was patronized by United Church people and many friends.

The Women's Institute reports this week that they are very satisfied with the results of the bazaar they held in the W.I. Hall on Friday afternoon. Fancy work and home cooking were on sale while teas were served. Winners of contest prizes were Mrs. W. D. McKenzie, Mrs. T. Collier and Mrs. Malcolm Taylor.

Ralph Heddington returned to this city on Wednesday of last week after more than six months spent in California. While the greater part of his stay in that state was in Berkeley, Mr. Heddington visited in various other cities and districts as well. It is understood he plans to remain in Vernon through the winter and probably return to California in the spring.

Dr. R. Garner, of the travelling tuberculosis clinic, was a visitor to this city on Tuesday when he inspected the local schools and also, in the afternoon, showed several reels of moving pictures to the students of the Junior and Senior High Schools, depicting the methods that are being used to combat tuberculosis. Dr. Garner makes periodic inspection visits to this city.

With the purpose of raising funds for the building of a new church in this city, the Ukrainian Greek Catholic Church recently held a very successful bazaar in the Ukrainian National Home. The church has already bought two lots on Mara Avenue near to the Peace Lutheran Church and it is at this location that it plans to erect the new building as soon as sufficient funds have been raised. Among those who won prizes at the bazaar were Fred Stickle, E. B. Townrow, and O. Hrynko, of Vernon, and J. G. Ship-pit, of Osoyoos.

to other centres. That is because we haven't the type of X-ray equipment we should have. Patients have to seek elsewhere. New equipment is absolutely necessary if our institution is to do efficient and up-to-date work."

The standpoint of the doctors was offered by Dr. H. J. Alexander. The present machine, second-hand when it was first secured, is not powerful or fast enough. If a diagnosis shows a negative result, so far as the X-ray is concerned, the doctor can never be absolutely sure. Perhaps the machine wasn't strong or efficient enough to indicate the proper results. High voltage current on exposure with this machine is dangerous. Somebody may be injured severely.

"In the present machine we have no faith whatever," he summed up. "Remember that the advance in X-ray work has been greater than that in the automobile—and we're using a 1914 machine." After the remarks of the three speakers, Alderman C. J. Hurt agreed that with better machinery an improved income to the hospital would be indicated. As it is now, Vernon is losing patients.

LITTLE GIRL GOES TO HOSPITAL AFTER INJURY IN ACCIDENT

Ella Wornardt Seriously Hurt In Fall From Back Of Truck

A little girl, Ella Wornardt, lies seriously injured in the hospital, and her sister, Sophie Wornardt, is also suffering painful injuries as the result of an accident on Sunday morning.

Information about the accident is still not complete but the police are at the present time carrying on an investigation.

So far as can be ascertained, the two little girls were riding in the back of a truck driven by their father, Julius Wornardt, when it approached the intersection on Elm Street just beside Hormann's store. At the same time, a car driven by John Gelstinger, passed and the two cars grazed slightly together.

When the two drivers stopped to see whether any damage was done, the two little girls were found lying on the road where they had fallen from the back of the truck.

Ella was found to be suffering from very serious internal injuries when taken to the hospital, while Sophie suffered lesser nose and arm injuries.

How the two little girls came to be so badly hurt is not yet known but the police are making every effort to secure a complete picture.

ADVISE REDUCING REMUNERATION OF FRUIT BOARD MEN

PENTICTON, B.C., Nov. 22.—Members of the B.C. Fruit Board were subjected to criticism at the B.C.F.G.A. local meeting held here Tuesday night.

The suggestion was made by some grower speakers that, in future, Board members be retained at a purely nominal retainer. That they did not have enough to do to justify full time effort was the accusation.

A. K. Loyd, President of the B.C. F.G.A., defended action taken in appointing O. W. Hembling to the Creston sub-central.

An extensive review of marketing operations so far this season was given by David McNair, sales manager for B.C. Tree Fruits Limited.

perence has shown us the folly of trying to continue a scheme on behalf of the growers on a voluntary method."

Mr. Millar did not favor any amendment in the scheme at present. He said that until various questions were cleaned up it would be "unwise" to do this. Pressed as to what he meant by the use of the word he declared it might upset the present arrangements of control.

"Then what are your objections?" countered G. A. Barrat. "You say compulsory control is bad anyway? So why do you, in particular, worry if it's going to be upset?"

When Mr. Millar brought up the question of the Sunoka cherry deal, and said the Board had not handled shippers fairly, Mr. Barrat made somewhat the same reply.

"First you say that the Board is too arbitrary and you want an end to compulsion. Then you find fault with the Board because they weren't firm or compulsory enough in your opinion. You have us coming and going."

James Goldie, of Okanagan Centre, backed Mr. Powell strongly on the need for compulsion.

"If you want to know, the sheriff's my dictator," commented Mr. Goldie. "He's going to make me economize and use better methods, and he's going to see that I join with my fellow growers in a scheme that will get the best results for all of us."

While of the opinion that Mr. Millar should remain on the board of governors, Mr. Goldie said that he should resign from the executive. The issue was then delayed until the following morning, Saturday, when Mr. Millar took such a step.

"I am definitely not in sympathy with your views on legislation," Mr. Millar said at the time his resignation was made.

George E. Brown was appointed secretary-treasurer of the company, his change of title being authorized by the executive. Formerly he was known as office manager.

Called before the Friday morning session, A. C. Lander, recently returned from a trip to the prairies, said that "I have never before seen the retailers so interested in pressing the marketing of our crop."

Various routine questions on marketing operations were put to him, during which he said that an extensive research was being made to determine the approximate amounts of the crop that might go to the various markets.

sonal reflections on themselves which were bound to result therefrom.

We think, however, that the thought which should come foremost to the minds of the growers is the utter lack, which has now become apparent, of aggressive, courageous and efficient leadership in the handling of the growers' affairs by those who might be called, strictly speaking, grower leaders. We refer to the members of the Tree Fruit Board and to the directors of the B.C. Fruit Growers Association. It is not suggested that all the qualifications referred to were absent from all the grower leaders, but we do say that there was not one grower leader in whom there was present to any marked degree all the qualifications of aggressiveness, courage and efficiency. With these matters the McGregor report does not specifically deal, but Commissioner McGregor must have been shocked that in this large fruit growing community, until the publication of the Isaacs' charges, those who were, in positions of authority were not sufficiently efficient and interested, and in the case of the Chairman of the Tree Fruit Board, much as we dislike to have to say it, were not sufficiently clear thinking to take steps to rectify the situation.

That situation should have been known to those leaders whose specific duty it was to know of such matters. In 1933 Roger Borrett, the growers' representative who investigated marketing conditions in the Prairie Provinces in connection with the investigation which he had previously made, said:

"I believe that there are interests on the Prairies who are connected with the Valley in some way and that they are doing their best to undermine the movement with a view to breaking it up."

"I further believe that there are Brokers in the Valley, connected with the interests and also packing houses, possibly with representatives on the Stabilization Board and even on the Price Setting Committee."

At that time, Mr. Borrett was a voice crying in the wilderness and little or no attention was paid to what he said, but the warning was there nevertheless, and there must have been ample indication of the true state of affairs. It was the duty of the grower leaders to be on the alert to protect those who had placed them in positions of responsibility and trust.

In the same year—1933—the present Chairman of the Tree Fruit Board, then president of the British Columbia Fruit Growers Association, and leader of the growers' movement, when asked if he was in receipt of a retainer or was being paid in any form for legal services by any interest or interests connected with the business of shipping and selling fruit from the Okanagan Valley, replied emphatically, "I am not!" "I know," he went on, "that from time to time reports have been started and circulated that I am getting money one way or another from the shipping or marketing interests for legal services. This is not so. . . . Cost what it may to me personally, I am going to fight for the growers to the last ditch." Discreetly, Mr. Haskins did not disclose whether or no he had received remuneration from or been retained by shippers, vide company reports, and also his own statement of receiving instructions from Staples.

The report on the McGregor investigation shows that in spite of these high sounding words, the Chairman of the Tree Fruit Board favored a combine and quantity discounts, even to more than twice $20 per car, a statement which calls forth criticism of the vigor of the fight he was putting up.

In the same year, Mr. Haskins, in answer to a question raised by A. D. Heriot, threatened the growers that he had received instructions from Mr. Staples that if anybody suggested that Staples was controlled by the jobbers he was to commence immediate action against such person. It now appears that Mr. Haskins has for some time at least been indebted to one of the subsidiaries to the combine, and that moneys were advanced to him without proper security, as Mr. Haskins is known to have stated, merely "as a friendly act." Surely, Mr. Haskins, a lawyer, realized that he put himself in an unfortunate position when, while representing growers in a position of trust, he placed himself in the situation of owing money to men or companies, whose interests appear to have been opposed to those of the grower. It is conceivable that Mr. Haskins might have found himself in an embarrassing position wherein his creditors—with no security for the debt—might have demanded services which his duty to growers required him to refuse.

To the other members of the Tree Fruit Board, and to Mr. Haskins as well, may it not very properly be said, "You were the watch dogs for the fruit growers. You should have taken some action in respect of the subject matter of the McGregor report. If you did not know that it existed, you were remiss in your duties because you should have known. It was your duty to know."

To the officers of the British Columbia Fruit Growers Association, it should be pointed out that their duty was not to follow but to lead. It was not sufficient for them to ascertain what the wishes of the fruit growers were and to frame policies in accordance with those wishes, but to give them constructive leadership against the common enemy which was slowly ruining their source of livelihood.

With the warning of the results of the Nash investigation in 1925 before them, the policy of the grower leaders always should have been an aggressive and courageous one—of watchfulness for a recurrence of the scandalous conditions of those days. The fear of being unconventional—of being "unnecessarily theatrical" as Mr. Lloyd said, of the Isaacs charges—the fear of disturbing the "deal," seems to have become an obsession with the grower leaders—as if the "deal" were sacrosanct. Until the grower leaders come to realize that their interest is directly in more bread and butter for the growers, that their interest is not in things

Gold and red is your gaudy cloak,
Crimson your tasselled cap,
The wand you wave is amber clear,
Careful! lest it snap

Where sunburnt stubble gleams,
Or skip the briars in the narrow lanes
In the blue moonbeams.
Gay your laugh when you toss the jewels
From frosty finger tips,
And kiss the fruit of the hawthorn tree
With your painted lips.
Autumn, you are a boastful lad,

And a daring glance at a saffron sky

abstract—not in the "deal" as such—but in the material welfare of the producers, they cannot perform their duties as they should. Throughout the length and breadth of the fruit-growing districts of British Columbia, there are men, women and even children who are doing without the necessities of life because of a lack of proper leadership on the part of those in whom the authority has been vested.

This newspaper does not question the good intentions of the officers of the British Columbia Fruit Growers Association, but if ever there was a case in which the road to Hell was paved with good intentions, this is the case, and the Hell which the fruit grower has faced and may in the absence of a little ordinary courage on the part of his leaders, face again, is the lack to him of the peace of mind which he should have in respect of financial matters by way of return for his long hours of toil and public service as a primary producer. From the report it is clear that the whole industry—in respect of both production and marketing—has been kept in a state of uncertainty because of the actions of the combine.

We believe that there are sound men on the Board of the British Columbia Fruit Growers Association, and the criticism which we have directed to them is meant merely as an indication to them that for the future they should turn good intentions into aggressive action if they wish to render real service to their members.

This newspaper has taken this matter up out of a sense of a duty to the public—its duty of leadership. That duty does not rest as directly upon it as it rests upon the British Columbia Fruit Growers Association, but it feels that it is a medium through which the troubles and needs of the Vernon district, urban and rural, may find expression and consequently a remedy; for with the welfare of the primary producers is inevitably united the business and private welfare of every man, woman and child in the district. Further, this paper has a stake in the community—it has a substantial interest in plant, equipment, and investment in this Valley. It does not propose to have that interest lost or depreciated without a battle. Therefore, "The Vernon News" proposes to carry on this fight to the end. In pursuance of our policy, we hereby serve notice on all persons who may be tempted to exploit the growers for personal advantage, that in the performance of our public duty and in the protection of our private interests, we will expose them as they should be exposed.

Our growers cannot prosper until a higher standard of morality pervades the business of marketing our fruit. Is not the McGregor report a challenge to us all—growers, shippers, officials of the B.C. Fruit Growers Association, and business men—to work together constructively to that end?

NEW ZEALAND LOOKS TO NORTH OKANAGAN

FROM time to time the dairy industry in the North Okanagan has attracted the attention of leaders in other sections of Canada. There have been instances where they have been more than mildly interested in our dairy operations.

New Zealand dairymen may now be added to the list of those who have marked the progress of the dairy industry here.

The "New Zealand Dairymen" the Southern Dominion chief spokesman, in its October issue, reprinted an article from the Cream Collector. As a lead to this feature in bold type the following acknowledgment is courteously made to the Okanagan farmer's little dairy paper: "Below we reprint an article published by 'Cream Collector', Okanagan Valley, British Columbia, Canada, as we think it will be of interest to our readers. Dominion dairy farmers pride themselves, and rightly so, on their great co-operative dairy factory system, and this is another instance where co-operation would be of immense benefit.—Editor, New Zealand Dairymen."

The article which was republished by the New Zealand paper, was an explanation of artificial insemination. The North Okanagan was the first place in Canada where were given practical demonstrations of this new scientific development in dairy husbandry. Apparently knowledge of the progress of this new herd improvement has not yet been generally distributed in New Zealand.

It is a great tribute to the Directors of the Okanagan Valley Co-operative Creamery Association to have their methods so widely quoted in a sister Dominion, especially in one where co-operative dairying has reached such a point of scientific development.

"WAR IN THE AIR"

From The Vernon News Files

Four hundred officers and men of the 30th B.C. Horse will leave here for the mobilization camp at Victoria as soon as arrangements are completed. Thursday, Nov. 26, 1934 there for their reception, probably within the next two weeks. The full strength of the regiment will be 595 officers and men, of which 120 will be enrolled at Victoria, 50 in Vancouver, 25 in Kamloops and 400 in Vernon. A squadron of 78 men will be left in this city which will continue to be the headquarters of the 30th Regiment, Colonel Bott, commanding officer of the regiment, does not think that it will leave Victoria for the front until January, but no definite statement regarding this can yet be made. An official memorandum was issued by Sir Robert Borden this week, announcing that it had been determined to increase in the immediate future the Canadian Force under arms to 50,000 men in addition to the 2,000 men now engaged in garrison duty. The memorandum explains that the Canadian force organized for active service will be as follows: Forces already dispatched, including regiment garrisoning Bermuda, nearly 33,000. Forces engaged in garrison and outpost duty in Canada, almost 8,000. Forces under training in Canada, 50,000. Total, 91,000. As soon as the second contingent goes forward, a further enlistment of 17,000 men to take its place will be made, bringing the total to 108,000. With the smashing of the submarines which the Germans had been so laboriously assembling at Zebrugge, the Allied fleet has been removed from that point on the coast. It is now felt that there is little danger of an undersea raid, and from additional despatches received from the other side of the Channel, it is apparent the damage inflicted by the fire of the warships at Zebrugge was far more effective than was at first supposed. Germany's new naval base on the North Sea is virtually destroyed.—Lieutenant Harry Marshall McKay, of the Royal Engineers, was killed in action on November 13. He was the eldest son of Col. H. K. McKay, of Vernon.—Messages from North Holland state that unusual activity prevails at Emden. Fishermen who daily cruise near German waters say the German fleet is preparing for a decisive action in the North Sea. Prince Henry, of Prussia, was at Emden this week for an inspection of the torpedo and submarine craft.—Stanley H. Flack, of Vernon, a naval reservist, who had been ordered to report to the H.M.S. Glasgow, has now been transferred to H.M.S. Princess Royal and is at present crossing Canada on his way to England to join his new ship.

Let Us Save What We Have

In the rather furious war debate raised by the C.C.F. in the British Columbia Legislature recently, one of the arguments raised by the C.C.F. opposition was that the war now being fought was not a fight for political democracy because our political democracy had failed; it had not brought with it "economic democracy" or economic equality. Therefore, in the view of many C.C.F. supporters, the war becomes another "imperialist" war, an internecine strife of rival fascisms, a struggle only between competing capitalisms which the workers of the world would do well to ignore.

This argument is not a new one, it is pointed out in an editorial in The Winnipeg Free Press, which continues:

It has been heard, in various contexts, for years. It will be heard again, but constant repetition fails to remove its central fallacy, and it is a pity that even the emergence of war itself in its present form has not destroyed it. It is very true that our political democracy is not perfect. In many respects it has failed. But, if we do not preserve the principles upon which even that imperfect instrument is based, what have we left? What is the alternative? To this question we have yet to hear a satisfactory reply, from the C.C.F. or from anyone else.

If our political democracy is destroyed, is the alternative to be a perfect political and economic democracy such as the C.C.F. speakers have advocated?

Or is it rather to be the emergence of a regime which will destroy every high hope entertained by the C.C.F. through the years? Mrs. Steeves and her supporters in British Columbia have no real answer to this, for the simple reason that there is none. If political democracy were to be destroyed, the next annihilation would be of the left-wing parties. They would not find themselves in any Utopia. They would find themselves, in the words of the Vancouver Sun, in a concentration camp.

This is the sad and bitter truth that Mrs. Steeves and her friends must remember. If they do not, and if they carry the country with them in their belief, they will lose not only the freedom they now have; they will lose the hope of expanding that freedom. They will set back the very cause they cherish most. It would have been a grand thing, sure enough, to have been able to enter this war with a perfectly devised political and economic structure to fight for. But because what we have is faulty seems to be no reason at all for giving up the fight. We have in this country, indeed, a society organized in institutions which are the envy of many lands. By human standards, Canada ranks high. Let us then turn to preserve it, in the hope that, by overthrowing what menaces it today, we or our children may make it better. The counsel of Mrs. Steeves and her supporters is the counsel only of despair.

The German Plan

The lull in the war is not, from all accounts, any dull ennui to the British authorities. The war-thinking of the German Higher Command has not changed in 200 years, and it has never ventured without having a plan to execute. There is a plan, a plan studied and brought up to date to meet every changing phase, and to that plan the Germans are working. When that plan is ready to be given effect, it will explode like a volcano, and whatever it may contain, that is certain not to be what Britain and France would have preferred. That, too, is Prussian doctrine, and good teaching in warfare.

The fundamental plan of the Germans, as the London Observer perceives it, is one of direct and concentrated attack by sea and air on Britain and her means of life. What seems to be a stalemate on the Western Front may be a part of the design, for by lasting months a stalemate could peg down on that line large proportions of French and British manpower, detracting from their power to meet the direct attacks by air and sea on Britain. This and nothing else "is the core of the war. This and nothing else is the desperate encounter by sea and air which will decide one way or the other the issue of life and death between Britain and the Nazi Reich," says J. L. Garvin.

Forays by air over such vital defence parts of Britain as is the north of Scotland, show the approach to the hour when the fundamental plan will go into effect. All has to be staked by the Germans on "the old theory of the knock-out blow by direct attack on the vitals of Britain. That is, upon her naval bases, her shipyards, her harbors, her air factories, her chief industrial centres of every kind."

Probably enemy expectations have been chilled by the poor results of his experimental efforts so far. But he has the advantage, in that he still has the initiative, which cannot be wrested from him until an absolutely decisive air supremacy is created by the Allies. The British remain unafraid, even if aware that the Germans have not yet put their first-class craft in the air. Their menace is partly of their own forging, for though the initiative still lies with Hitler and Goering, they have forced those bombers to show what their threats amount to. The enemy is strong, but under the sea he is not strong enough, and in the air he cannot much longer have supremacy. For the British are preparing "the mightiest effort we ever made in a short time."—Winnipeg Free Press.

Free ?

"(King) Capone, former overlord of Chicago's underworld, is free. At least he has been released from a seven-year term in Federal prison. If only stone walls a prison make, or iron bars a cage, America's most infamous gangster is free. But there appear to be strings.

News dispatches reported the man who ruled as dictator over lesser lords of racketdom still "under surveillance of three Government agents while a strong police guard watched the hospital" where he is confined. And there is fear of former enemies.

If freedom is less a matter of open air than of clear conscience, lack of fear, knowledge of useful achievement, confidence in right motives, Alphonse Capone has still to win his freedom. It is reported that he is determined to "go straight." That purpose, carried out, can grant more liberty than any release from iron bars, more dominion than any despotic power ever wielded by a gangster in any field.—Christian Science Monitor.

The other night it cost me 50 cents to hear Howard Scott, chief of Technocracy, Incorporated. Two years ago the price was half that. This year the crowd was about twice as large. I was not convinced that Technocracy was justified in describing Mr. Scott as "the most important man in America." But I was more than ever convinced that American writers were wrong a few years ago when they said Technocracy was "as dead as the Dodo." My own observations throughout western Canada during the past few years suggest that Technocracy is growing much more steadily than any similar movement.

Premier Abernethy's remark that Technocracy might be the eventual system in Alberta is significant. For no leader has been so ridiculed by Technocracy as Mr. Abernethy. He has his ear to the ground, and knows what is going on in his own province.

Technocracy is well led and efficiently organized. Under every other missionary movement which has ever made serious claims, Technocracy stands out as a center of professional organizers. It fights with a most effective weapon, namely systematic education. And it is extremely astute. It keeps aloof from all political contests, deliberately planning to put into effect its program only after all the present governmental bodies in North America have been constrained to abdicate.

It is because I believe that Technocracy is a potential bidder for real power on this continent that I think people should begin to examine its basic principles in earnest. For I am quite certain that a great many even of its own adherents do not clearly understand the dual nature of the movement to which they belong.

For what Technocracy proposes in the economic sphere is, of course, a form of socialism, or communism. It has been rather aptly described as "communism in spats." I do not believe that any sincere believer in the democratic principle will contend that the people of North America cannot have any form of socialism or communism they want, if they attain it legally. But Technocracy is not only an economic program. It advocates a form of the Totalitarian state which in essence is no different from the dictatorship of Germany and Russia. It seems to me that after the experience of the past generation the advocacy of any form of totalitarian government is itself evidence either of gross ignorance, mass stupidity or deliberate conspiracy against the public interest.

Technocracy seems to me to have a far more effective approach to the leverage of North American citizens, in its economic arguments, than has any other body with a compelling solution for present day problems. Year after year its professional organizers are able to say to the public, "See that? Isn't that exactly what we told you?" Its basic argument is that the increasing materialization of industry is creating a problem which is increasingly impossible of solution by the automatic action of the economic system. I, for one, agree with them in this. In spite of the world armament race of the past six years, and even of the war itself, with its absorption into industry of many millions of men, the basic unemployment problem on this continent is actually worse than it has ever been.

Last week I heard the official spokesman for the Roosevelt government declare over the radio that there were nine million unemployed persons in the United States who cannot possibly be absorbed into private industry. In spite of the war supply boom. Over 800,000 more unemployed last week in Britain than on the day the war broke out.

This year in Canada we harvested 379 million bushels of wheat, third largest crop in history, with a mere fraction of the number of men we employ. The farm I know best in Ontario produced more actual food today than it did in my grandfather's time. There are two people getting a living out of it now, and a hired man part of the year. There used to be seven strapping adults all working all year on that soil.

Those who like to study all the official statistics about unemployment get them from the studies at the Brookings Institute in Washington, D.C., which certainly is anything but a radical outfit. To me at least it seems that the basic argument used by Technocracy is unanswerable. For it is no answer to say that new inventions and new methods that create enough new employment to offset that created as noted above. There is more idle money today waiting for a chance for profitable investment than there ever was before in the whole history of the world. And there are many more opportunities for profitable investment by putting new machines in old industries, thus increasing unemployment. The problem of unemployment would therefore increase even if there were no increase in the number needed jobs. Yet each year into the labor market goes a whole school-boy crop.

Except, of course, in time of armament races and war.

The Technocrats are not the only people who believe that the arrival of stable peace, and the consequent demobilization of the armies and the war industries, will create problems which cannot possibly be solved without fundamental changes in our social systems. Most of the business men, the clans, and financial people will tell you the same thing. If you get them talking about what is likely to happen when peace breaks out. In my opinion, therefore, Technocracy is doing a genuine public service in educating the public as to what its studies suggest as the solution.

Where I think the Technocrats are acting completely contrary to the public interest is in systematically spreading the propaganda against the democratic principle of government.

Democracy is by far the best system yet devised to advance and safeguard the rights of the great mass of the people. There is no nothing good that has been done in any dictator country which has not been done as well done in a democracy. And all of the outrages, the murder of millions, the persecution of whole classes, the degradation of whole generations of youth, would have been utterly impossible under democracy.

The priceless heritage of self-government by democracy is that the people have the right to get rid of governments they do not want, and social conditions they do not want. They can get rid of capitalism if they really want to, or of any part of it.

But under democracy they have also the right to reverse their steps if they are disappointed by results. They do not like it in the bar room—and if they throw out prohibition, they have the right to throw it back. They have the right to be wrong—the right to make mistakes—the right to progress by the path responsible for all real human progress—namely that of trial and error, the learning by experience.

Relieve the misery without dosing. Rub chest, throat and back thoroughly with Vicks VapoRub at bedtime. Right away, VapoRub goes to work... two ways at once. VapoRub acts on the skin like a warming stimulating poultice. At the same time it gives off medicinal vapours that are breathed direct into irritated air passages. This direct, double action continues for hours after restful sleep comes. Often by morning most of the misery is gone.

Council Abandoning Its Application For "Cheap Money" Loan

Proposed $54,000 Scheme On Waterworks Seems To Be Hoisted

Vernon's hopes of securing the aid of the Dominion government under the Municipal Improvements Assistance Act, to provide for a $54,000 waterworks improvement program, have practically disappeared.

This at least was the City Council's reaction on Monday evening to a letter from Deputy Minister of Finance Clark.

"We won't proceed farther with the application," commented Alderman C. J. Hurd, chairman of the civic waterworks department.

The governmental legislation, by which "cheap money" at two per cent is provided, must apply only to projects that are self-liquidating, according to Ottawa.

The most recent communication from the Deputy Minister of Finance sets forth that the legislation means "that as a result of the completion of the project the net revenue of the municipality must be increased by an amount sufficient to pay the interest and amortization charges on the loan. This increase in net revenue may result either from an increase in gross receipts because of charges made to persons specially benefiting from the new service provided, or from a decrease in operating and maintenance charges which would otherwise have to be borne by the municipality, or from a combination of both these factors."

An earlier letter to the government, from Vernon, it was divulged by City Clerk Wright, said that this Council never intended to make this project self-liquidating as the largest part of the loan will be used for renewals. However, they are fully confident that the system as a whole will be quite capable of taking care of this additional debt. Certain figures were quoted.

NOT TREATED SAME
Reviewing the refusal of the application, Alderman C. J. Hurd declared that Vernon has not "been treated the same as many other

OLIVER HOSPITAL SOCIETY IS GOING AHEAD WITH PLANS

Extensive Investigations Have Been Made And Much Data Collected

OLIVER, B.C., Nov. 20.—The question of a hospital has long been under consideration by the Oliver Hospital Society, formed many months ago by the Oliver Board of Trade and with other local organizations assisting.

This society has made extensive investigations into the hospital question. A mass of data covering building plans and costs, operating expenses and methods of financing, has been collected by the society and certain definite conclusions have been reached.

Most important of these is that in the opinion of the board, a hospital in Oliver can be operated successfully only by erecting a building with the aid of a government grant, and operating the hospital without a paid staff. Regarding the latter point, the board has been communicating with an order of nursing sisters who are very much interested in the suggestion, and who would, probably, be willing to operate the hospital on this basis.

The whole matter of the hospital question is to be laid before the community at a public meeting to be held in the near future. At present, residents of Oliver and district receive hospitalization at Penticton, Kamloops, and other points. Many residents of this district take advantage of the $1.00 a month hospital insurance scheme of the Penticton Hospital. It is believed that a similar insurance plan could be operated in connection with an Oliver hospital, and that such a scheme would receive wide support here.

BUTCHART NAMED AS ARMSTRONG SPOKESMAN IN VEGETABLE GROUP

All-Grower Control Of Board Is Favored By Resolution

ARMSTRONG, B.C., Nov. 20.—At rather sparsely attended meeting of registered vegetable growers held in the Municipal Hall, Armstrong, D. B. Butchart was appointed to represent them at the convention of Interior Vegetable Growers which is to be held at Kelowna in December.

A resolution from the Central Okanagan Growers Association which recommended that the membership of the Vegetable Marketing Board be changed so as to include three owner-growers in place of two owner-growers and one shipper as at present was endorsed.

A resolution recommending that the members of the Marketing Board be elected for two years to retire alternately was passed after some discussion.

T. Wilkinson, of the Board, who was in attendance, gave a report of the year's work of the Board. Mr. Wilkinson, in his opening remarks said that the past year had been the first during which the Board had operated without the cloud of the illegality of the act under which it was hanging over its head.

Several questions were asked as to the workings of the Board which Mr. Wilkinson answered in a satisfactory manner.

The Dilemma Deepens

THE DRIVE THROUGH HOLLAND ABANDONED? MEANING OF THE BEER-HALL BOMBING. WHEN WILL THE GERMANS REVOLT?

By Willson Woodside

Some weeks ago I wrote about "Hitler's Dilemma," how the need to give his people a "shot in the arm" every now and then forced him to action, in spite of the great cost and risk of the offensive, the unfavorable season of the year and the absolute lack of surprise. Since then Hitler's dilemma has deepened. The supplies of the United States, the most powerful industrial country in the world, have been thrown on to our side, while nothing has happened to prove that Russia intends, or is able, to help Germany decisively. On the contrary, Molotov has set the goal of Soviet-German trade "the highest level previously reached." This was in 1930, when Germany drew four percent of her imports from Russia.

The removal of the U.S. embargo makes it all the more necessary for Hitler to strike soon, just as the imminent arrival of American men and supplies in France in 1918 made Ludendorff gamble all of Germany's remaining strength on his great offensive that spring. There are many indications that Hitler really did intend to drive through Holland last week, and was only deterred at the last moment. By going straight through Holland and even avoiding Belgium he seems to have figured that he could leave France entirely out of it. It is noteworthy that ever since the war began, and in fact ever since Munich, Hitler has kept assuring France that he had no quarrel with her, while working his people up against Britain.

The German papers which I saw daily this past summer were full of the bitterest trades against England. She was the jealous rival who had struck at honest, hard-working Germany because the latter was winning along too well with her colonies, trade and navy. "Plutocratic!" Britain it was, stuffed with herself with money and colonies, who was leading the "encirclement front" against poor Germany again.

Hitler seems to have promised the Belgians that he would leave them alone, coaxed them to keep their nose out of his affair in Holland and threatened them with what they would get if they stuck it in. But this game is played out. In spite of the terrible lesson of the last war the Belgians took the decision that they would stand or fall with the Dutch and let Hitler know, just in time, that they would allow French and British forces in to help. Having failed in his manoeuvre to intimidate the little countries and split France from Britain, the German leader hesitated to add 17 million Dutch and Belgians to his enemies and open up his whole unfortified right flank, covering the Ruhr industrial area, to Allied attack.

But such making and breaking of plans, such interferences in their strategy by the former corporal and paper-hanger, is not calculated to increase the happiness of the German military chief. In the Ludendorff days they ran the government; the government didn't run them. We have only rumors to go on (what a crop of them war does grow!), but it seems plain enough that all this hesitation about starting the war in the West proves deep division of opinion in Germany. The potent poison of distrust is working between Army and Party. The recent mysterious death of the army's most respected leader, von Fritsch, and the imprisonment of another, von Blomberg, cannot but resurrect ugly memories of the assassination by the Nazi Black Guards of the former military Chancellor, von Schleicher, and other generals in the Blood Purge of 1934. Rumor has it that von Fritsch was as far as affected by military—the sensational bomb attempt on Hitler in the Munich beer hall. But that I doubt very much. In the same way I must regrettably reject the Nazi claim that the British did it. It would have been an excellent idea, but I am afraid that that smart old man who would like to believe that genuine German oppositionists very nearly took care of Hitler and his gang that day in Munich and might take their measure some other day soon. But we are really to believe that the Secret Police are so inefficient as to allow outsiders to get into such a closely guarded place and carefully plant a powerful machine? Or that the police themselves are so shot with treason as to have planted it themselves? If either of these is the case, why the world told so much about it? Other attempts on Hitler's life have been severely hushed up. But this time, when the correspondents inquired if there had been an explosion at the beer-hall the manager seems to have answered over the phone, "Oh yes, a big one!" When they asked if they could see it, his reply appears to have been: "Why yes, come right up! And bring your cameras, so you can take pictures."

Showing the correspondents around the place the Nazis said, "Look, boys, what a pile of debris! At least 9 feet high, and exactly where the Fuehrer was standing. And just 10% minutes after he left the room! Naturally it could only be the work of the British!" And in due course pieces of the bomb were pulled out of the rubbish, marked "Made in Birmingham."

It all looks to me very much like another Reichstag Fire. As usual with the Germans, it was too well done. I suspect that the bomb was planted, by Hess after Hitler had safely left the hall, and that it was intended to arouse a storm of resentment among the German people and serve as both the signal and the excuse for launching the full fury of war against Britain. If this is so, it seems to have failed badly at all round, and may prove a boomerang to the over-zealous Nazi leaders when the public puts together all the suspicious circumstances and couples it with the Reichstag Fire. It may prove, when the time comes, a factor in undermining the confidence of the people in Hitler and bringing on revolt. But that time is not yet.

I don't doubt that the German people will revolt when the sacrifice of the war becomes unbearable and hope in victory and confidence in their leaders has quite disappeared. Can we believe that they feel like this already, just after a "glorious" victory over Poland, with visions of the British Navy going down on all sides before German torpedoes, with hope of food and supplies from Russia to counteract the blockade, with the German Army and undisciplined in the field defeat of the 1918 standard? In these circumstances, ought we to expect much result from our propaganda leaflets, especially the ones that threaten concentration camps and death to those who pick them up, continually remind the people that it is only a trick to break their resistance and force another Versailles or worse upon them?

What are the past lessons it will take hunger, military defeat and the need to prepare the ground for our peace propaganda in Germany, and bring about revolt. In any case such a revolt could hardly be successfully carried out by the unarmed population against the machine-guns and hand-grenades of the Black Guard and the Gestapo. Any revolt that comes before the complete dissolution of the army disperses millions of men with rifles throughout the country must come through a split within the Party itself, or between Army and Party leaders.

Hitler, I don't believe, is yet faced with revolt (although I am prepared for anything in Germany). But he has to keep giving the people successes, keep up their hope in Russian supplies, keep them from sitting at home and waiting for the winter evenings' made gloomier by the blackout, thinking of how he now disavows everything he once stood for and what a disaster to German interests in Eastern Europe the pact with Stalin has been. More than that, to win he has got to attack, and soon, in spite of the cost and the risk, the unfavorable season and the lack of surprise.

Attack where? He could grab defenceless Denmark and her butter and bacon. But this would be killing the goose that lays the golden eggs. He would get more butter and bacon out of Denmark after the first lot, for these are dependent on imported fodder which would promptly be cut off; and besides he would deprive himself of indispensable supplies from the other Scandinavian countries. He could occupy Hungary and Yugoslavia. But this would lead him nowhere, give him 25 million more troublesome subjects to watch, and probably throw Italy in on our side. He could assault the Maginot Line—but who wants to do that? There remains aerial attack against Britain's great cities, naval bases, factories and harbors. Hitler might, like a "cornered maniac" as Winston Churchill said, start this, if just for destruction's sake. If he doesn't (and who's a blessed fool that would do it) it will be because he knows that two can play at such a game and is more afraid of his home population than we are of ours.

Hitler Escaped Bomb Which Killed Seven

A few minutes after Adolf Hitler left the beer cellar in Munich where he had been celebrating the abortive Nazi push of 1923, a terrific explosion killed seven persons and injured more than 60 others. The Fuehrer escaped due to the fact that he unexpectedly early to return to Berlin. An official said the explosion occurred at the exact time Hitler ordinarily would have begun to speak. Germany's inspired press charged the British secret service with having a hand in the attempted assassination of Hitler and promised to "deal harshly with state enemies." Hitler, in his speech before the explosion, had said Germany was ready to act "in a language Britain will understand." It is shown with some of his lieutenants at a Nazi party congress in Nuremberg. From the right are Gauleiter Streicher, publisher and most violent anti-Semite; Reichminister Rudolph Hess, Chancellor Hitler, Herr Lutz, Herr Schwarts, Dr. Ley, and Dr. Goebbels.

LOCAL SPORTSMEN WINTER CAMPAIGN AGAINST VERMIN

General Meeting of Association Discusses Important Game Matters

A new water weed has taken possession of Okanagan Lake in the past two or three years, according to brief statement of Major Allan Brooks at a general meeting of the Vernon Fish and Game Association held recently.

The weed is bringing great benefits to the wild life of this district said Major Brooks. It grows in water of less than ten feet deep and is so thick that carp, the worst of all predatory fish cannot swim through it. This preserves the food that attracts ducks, that was previously demolished by carp and also provides good shelter to small fish allowing them to gain size before being gobbled up by larger fish.

The meeting, which was presided over by President W. S. Harris was well attended and dealt with many things of vital interest to sportsmen of the district.

Vernon hunters are determined to find some method of keeping down game during the winter months. It was decided to make an offer to the Game Board whereby the local club would forego the importation of hand raised pheasants in return for a similar amount of money being spent on ammunition to be used to kill predatory vermin during the winter months.

Hand raised pheasants came in for quite a beating by Major Brooks. He said they were a menace to the fine class of wild birds that are already here. They bring in disease and never take their place in a natural environment.

The hens do not "set" long enough to hatch and both sexes are very stupid. He had talked this matter over with the head game keeper of the Duke of Norfolk's Arundel estate and he had stated that he always liberated hand raised birds where they can be shot off the first day as they never become real game birds. Major Brooks pleaded with the members to refuse further importations from the Coast. "We have the finest, largest pheasants on this continent. Let us use and spoil them with these undersized domesticated birds," he said.

If we pay more attention to the elimination of predatory birds we will not need them.

A special committee of Messrs. J. B. Woods, J. S. Monk and Major Brooks were named to find ways and means to provide ammunition and prizes to have predatory bird shoots during the winter.

Following the service, a number of friends of the bride and groom were entertained at a reception held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Bryson. Following the reception, Mr. and Mrs. Clayton motored to Kelowna.

They will make their home here.

LOCAL FRUIT BOARD FOR KAMLOOPS AREA!

Would Work In Co-operation With B. C. Board, Say Backers

A local fruit marketing board for the Kamloops area and the main-line growers generally may be the outcome of the negotiations which have been going on for some time to free the growers in the area from some of the restrictions of the B.C. Tree Fruit marketing board, the Kamloops Sentinel declares.

R. H. Carson, Liberal member in the legislature for Kamloops, has been in touch with the government to present the grievances of the fruit growers in this district. Earlier ripening and other factors give Kamloops growers some advantage in the market, which is cancelled out by the restrictions of the Tree Fruit Board, it is claimed.

The meeting, which was presided over by President W. S. Harris was well attended and dealt with many things of vital interest to sportsmen of the district.

B.C. Goodwill Apple Tour to End Friday

Enthusiastic Receptions At All Centres On The Prairies

SASKATOON, Sask., Nov. 20.—Unique and memorable was the Yorkton, Sask., greeting to the B.C. Goodwill Apple Ambassadors at 7:30 o'clock on a bright, crisp, frosty morning with the sun just above the horizon, for there on the station platform awaiting the B.C. Goodwill Apple Ambassadors, Mrs. Dorothea Greenwood, Alma and Rilla Parent and C. A. Hayden were Mayor Charles A. Peaker, Ken Mayhew, a number of other prominent citizens and the Civic Service Club's Junior Brass Band, made up of twenty-two musicians, half girls.

The visitors were introduced all around and then taken in cars to the city hall with the band, under the direction of Professor Arthur George, heading the parade. There the band played several numbers, the members were introduced to the three cheers and a tiger. It was an unexpected and inspiring welcome and it started off the hardest week of the tour with a zestful zip.

Yorkton, the smallest and yet one of the most progressive cities in Saskatchewan, gave the B.C. party a fine day treatment. There were crowds from the surrounding country to see the demonstrations in the stores, there was a capacity attendance at the Rotary-Civic Service Club luncheon with the proceedings broadcast over CFCZ, and another large attendance at the Board of Trade dinner in the evening.

Throughout the day, Ken Mayhew, editor of the Yorkton Enterprise, was an indefatigable conductor of tour and proceedings. The luncheon program was on the air for half an hour with Mr. Hayden and Mr. Mayhew speaking and with Isobel Stillingfleet concluding with a message of thanks from the B.C.F.G.A. and from the visitors.

Leaving at 6:40 p.m., the B.C. party travelled 200 miles by bus to Saskatoon, setting their watches back an hour at Foam Lake.

AT SASKATOON
Saskatoon was the scene of a busy day's activities. Mayor Carl Nicolson, the youngest chief magistrate in the province, met the ambassadors at an early hour and signed the proclamation while the photographers shot the group. Then during the day eight stores were visited with several double demonstrations of apple packing in each and with dozens of interested spectators watching the girls at work and listening to the running comment by Mr. Hayden. Interspersed were 15 minutes over Station CFCO and a 20-minute program before the Gyro Club at its noon luncheon.

Then at night demonstrations were given on the stage at the Grand Theatre at 8:30 and at the Daylight Theatre at 9, with Mayor Nicolson introducing the visitors and making a vigorous appeal that more apples be eaten.

Up at 6:45 the next morning and away by motor to Prince Albert, 110 miles away, where the B.C. party of B.C. Tree Fruits Limited, at the wheel, the B.C. party continued to be favored with fine weather. Mayor George Brook extended a most cordial greeting, signed the "Proclamation" and later introduced the visitors to a packed theatre three times during the afternoon with a stirring eat-more-apples admonition on each occasion.

The spacious Capitol Theatre was crowded at 9 o'clock when the apple packing demonstration was staged. Mr. McIntosh extended a gracious welcome to the representatives of B.C.'s fruit growers, reviewed the condition of the apple industry in Canada and particularly in the coast province and submitted economic and health reasons why more apples should be eaten. He undertook to set a good example himself—and the audience laughed and cheered. The crowd applauded enthusiastically when Isobel Stillingfleet thanked Mr. McIntosh and the people of North Battleford for their unstinted hospitality and their sympathetic understanding.

UNIVERSITY VISITED
Then the 105-mile drive to Saskatoon and on the job the next morning at the University of Saskatchewan, where through the kindness of Dean C. F. Patterson, the 250 students in the agriculture division, watched demonstrations of slow motion and rapid fire apple packing, and listened to a description of orchard practices given by Mr. Hayden. A question period followed with sharpest interest developing in the returns to the growers on their crops.

Prof. McEwen, who visited the Okanagan last spring as the guest of Russell Heggie, of Vernon, recalled his agreeable experiences in B.C.'s fruit country and extended the thanks of the Faculty of Agriculture for the opportunity of seeing apple packers at work and hearing something about the cultural practices associated with the industry.

A demonstration in a big wholesale fruit house, with 60 executives and employees of Fruit Row attending, concluded the Saskatoon program and the party boarded the train for Edmonton late in the afternoon, tired, naturally, with the strenuous five days, but relaxing at the thought of a restful week end coming in the spite of the heavy schedule, the health of every member has been excellent since the start, the fine, almost unchanging weather, being perhaps largely responsible.

Now come Edmonton, Calgary and Vancouver and the Good-Will Caravan will have finished its long trek.

The itinerary calls for return to Vernon on November 24.

Vehicle Taken From Behind Dolphin Browne Premises At Week End

The second car theft in this city within two weeks occurred over the week end when a three-quarter ton truck was stolen from the garage of Dolphin Browne Limited, some time between 8 p.m. on Saturday and 9 a.m. on Monday.

The garage, which was unlocked, is behind the fruit warehouse on Schubert Street. The keys of the truck were in its dashboard cup-board. Later on Monday, the truck was found abandoned behind the National Hotel.

On Sunday of last week a coupe owned by L. Moser was stolen from his residence but was recovered a short time later on the Indian reserve. Accessories valued at $141 were stolen from it. At the same time, a car belonging to A. Townsend, of Oyma, was stripped of $15 worth of accessories while parked on the Kamloops highway, five miles north of Pakenham.

Near the place where Mr. Moser's car was found on the reserve, a motor cycle, which was stolen from here several weeks ago, was recovered.

The keys of the car were found in the garage of the motor bike. Also the place where the cycle apparently had been cached was found in a clump of trees not far from the road.

CHINESE MISSIONARY WORK IS DESCRIBED TO FALKLAND WOMEN

Miss M. Carroll Lays Special Emphasis On Work Done Among Youth

FALKLAND, B.C., Nov. 20.—Speaking at two meetings in the United Church here on Thursday, Miss M. Carroll, of the Women's Missionary Society, outlined briefly her work as a missionary in Canton, China, during the past 13 years. Miss Carroll is on a speaking tour of the province.

The speaker, in an hour's address, impressed her audience with the fine missionary work being done in China, especially among the youth of the nation. In the afternoon, Miss Carroll spoke to the girls of the community and organized a C.G.I.T. group. She asked the girls to remember that missionary work begins at home, and is not all done in foreign countries.

Officers elected for the girls' group are as follows: president, Jessie Alexander; vice-president, Ina Munsell; secretary, June Beddoes; treasurer, Kathleen Miller; leaders, Mrs. F. Tarry and Mrs. P. Ponton. The girls will meet on Wednesday evening of each week. During her stay here, Miss Carroll was the guest of Mrs. P. Ponton and Mrs. F. Tarry.

Proceeds from the annual bazaar of the Ladies' Aid amounted to $42. There were many fine articles of sewing on display, the home-made supply was not sufficient to meet the demand, and the bazaar, in which young and old dug for buried treasures, was the most popular feature of the evening.

Committees in charge included the following: sewing, Mrs. E. Clough and Mrs. R. Seaman; home-cooking, Mrs. P. Ponton and Mrs. F. Tarry; novelties, Mrs. H. C. Beddoes and Mrs. M. Phillips; refreshments, Mrs. J. Dent, Mrs. L. Clark, and Mrs. D. Miller; bran tub, Mrs. W. Kelly and Mrs. T. Tarry; weight guessing, Mrs. P. Kent; finance, Mrs. B. Munsell.

A new road was built into the upper gypsum quarries last week, so that rock can be loaded by truck instead of by overhead tram, as at present. Road building equipment from the Fondosa mill at Monte Lake, was used in the construction with M. Tully, engineer, from Vancouver, in charge.

Several young people motored to Westwood on Saturday evening to attend a drive and dance held there in aid of the school Christmas fund.

Mrs. W. Ferguson and Mrs. G. Polier are canvassing residents of the district for funds for the annual Christmas school concert.

Mrs. M. A. C. Kent and Mrs. D. Miller motored to Salmon Arm on Sunday to visit friends.

Miss Miriam Warren, of the Royal Inland Hospital staff, Kamloops, visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Warren on Wednesday.

M. Tully left for his home at Vancouver on Saturday.

Mrs. J. Alexander is holidaying at Vancouver.

Mrs. A. Wiseman returned to her home at Vernon on Wednesday, after several days' visiting with friends here.

Armstrong Citizens Honor War Dead At Impressive Service

Rev. G. G. Boothroyd Pays Tribute To The Fallen During Ceremony

ARMSTRONG, B.C., Nov. 20.—A large gathering of citizens from both city and country assembled in the Recreation Hall, Armstrong, on Saturday, November 11, at 11 a.m., for the twenty-first anniversary of the signing of the armistice which brought the Great War to a close, and paid reverent tribute to the memory of those who made the supreme sacrifice in that conflict.

The Rev. L. J. Tatham conducted the services and said the memorial prayers and the scripture lesson was read by the Rev. J. M. Netterfield.

The service opened with the singing of the hymn "Fight the Good Fight" followed by the Invocation, the Lord's Prayer and the memorial prayers. The sounding of the siren at 11 a.m. marked the beginning of "the silence" the completion of the two minutes was indicated by further blasts and was the signal for the "Last Post" which was sounded by Jim Jamieson.

The singing of the hymn "O God our help in ages past" was followed by the reading of the scripture lesson and the taking up of the collection which amounted to $50. This sum was divided between the Tubercular Veterans at Tranquille and the local Veterans' relief fund.

The address was delivered by Rev. G. G. Boothroyd, of the United Church, based on the text "Some there be which have no memorial, but these were men of mercy whose righteous deeds have not been forgotten. Their glory shall not be buried with them, and their name liveth for evermore."

The speaker said that the tragedy and pathos of the first phrase is fittingly marked by the observance of the two minute silence the world over. Something similar is symbolized by the shrine of the unknown soldier in Westminster Abbey, a nation taking to her heart those who had fallen.

The speaker pointed out that in spite of the troubled conditions and the curtailment of ceremonies, thousands of relatives, friends and comrades deliver the remembrance of the very features and the characters of the fallen. Mention was made of the valor of the Canadians on the field, their bravery in the face of the first gas attack, their achievements such as at Vimy Ridge, and the refusal of the Canadian army to accept a surrender of the enemy offensive in 1918.

For Canada their glory will live because in the struggle came the birth of this nation, having equal status among the members of the British Commonwealth of Nations.

The speaker turned to the Canadians now for perfecting a vast armada. Prime Minister Mackenzie King used the words "victory may be shaped on Canadian soil." The allies are benefiting today by the experience won at such cost by the soldiers in the last war.

Reference was made to the Canadian War Memorial dedicated by King George VI. The figures of the men on guard signified their gallantry, the two figures of Peace and Freedom above indicated the aspirations of the men who had in their hearts, they flung us the torch, the obligation to defend and the goal toward which to press through the fire and past the sword.

In conclusion the speaker quoted the war-time soldier poet, Rupert Brooke, "this heart had a pulse in the Eternal Mind."

The service concluded with the hymn "Lord of the Lands" and the National Anthem and Benediction.

Immediately following the service at the hall the various bodies lined up at the cenotaph in positions around the shrine when the roll was read and wreaths placed at the memorial by the Canadian Legion, City of Armstrong, Municipality of Spallumcheen, St. James' Church, Women's Institute, Odd-fellows, and Foresters. Revellie and the Benediction brought the brief service to a close.

"FOUR DAUGHTERS" ARE RE-UNITED IN COMEDY SIMILAR TO FIRST FILM

"Daughters Courageous," the Warner Bros. comedy of domestic life which comes to the Capitol Theatre on Monday and Tuesday, November 27 and 28, could be termed a first cousin to the same studio's "Four Daughters," but it is not a sequel to that picture.

There are in this film the same four daughters and again they are played by Frisella, Rosemary and Rolfe Lane and Gale Page. Their father again is Claude Rains, and their suitors again are John Garfield, Jeffrey Lynn, Frank McHugh and Dick Foran. May Robson again is a member of the household, this time, however, a faithful and outspoken old servant who has been with them for years.

This time the girls have a mother, Fay Bainter, and their mother has a tutor, Donald Crisp.

The girls' errand father returns and he soon has it within his power to upstate the nice future which loomed for his little family until he suddenly appeared on the scene. The working out of this situation makes an amusing tale.

FLYER IS INTERESTED

PLYMOUTH, B.C., Nov. 20.—Leut. Bruce Miller, R.C.A.F., who visited Penticton for a short vacation recently, was shown the new plans for the Penticton airport, while he was here. The young birdman indicated he was deeply impressed by the site and the considerable approval of the site and general layout as from a flyer's viewpoint. While he could make no official comment on the topic, he further indicated he was pleased that his "home town" was at last getting the air map. Regarding the feasibility of the site as a pilot-training base, naturally the young aviator's lips were sealed, but it is understood he mentioned a few of the requirements to interested parties, as from a pilot's standpoint.

RUTLAND, B.C., Nov. 20.—Remembrance Day was observed at Rutland, a service at the local War Memorial on the school lawn, under the auspices of the Boy Scouts Association. About forty adults and sixty children attended, a much smaller number of adults than in former years. The Girl Guides, Boy Scouts and Wolf Cubes paraded in uniform and all wore a wreath at the foot of the Memorial. In addition to a number of wreaths placed by relatives of those whose names appear on the stone, a large poppy wreath was placed by a representative of the Canadian Legion.

The post of chairman was taken by E. Mugford, president of the Scout Association, and the following program was carried through: "O Canada"; Lowering the Flag; Two Minutes' Silence; Placing of Wreaths; Reading and Seating the Flag; Prayer by Rev. A. O. Pound; Hymn, "O God Our Help in Ages Past"; Address by Commander Leslie Harrison, of Kelowna; and "God Save the King". Commander Harrison addressed his remarks mainly to the young people and urged them to strive for the establishment of a world in which war would be unknown and love and brotherhood replace hate and racial prejudice.

Employees of the Rutland branch of the Kelowna Growers' Exchange held their annual dance in the community hall on Tuesday evening, November 7, and spent an enjoyable time dancing to the music of Roy Enderby's orchestra.

A wedding of some considerable local interest was solemnized on Thursday afternoon, November 9, at 3:30 o'clock, at the Rutland United Church, when Miss Maxine Reynolds, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. HON. GROTE STIRLING ADDRESSES WOMEN'S INSTITUTE MEETING

Member For Yale Emphasizes Ideals and Privileges Of Canadians

PEACHLAND, B.C., Nov. 20.—The Hon. Grote Stirling, M.P., addressed the Women's Institute here in the Municipal Hall, and emphasized the ideals and privileges of Canadians. "When you are counting your blessings," he said, "I hope you remember to place high among them your privileges of being a citizen of Canada."

Tracing the history of Canada in an interesting and informal manner, he told of the early settlement by the French and subsequent efforts at capture by the English and later the Americans. Tribute was paid to the United Empire Loyalists who left possessions and lands in the United States to trek to Canada and show their loyalty to the Mother Country. With differing nationalities there was bound to be friction in local government and he spoke of the work of Lord Durham, whose ideas were taken from the great Pitt, in formulating the type of government we now enjoy. Lord Durham had believed that the proper mission of a free nation was to foster the growth of free institutions, free speech and everything which goes to make up the liberty which Britons now cherish.

Mr. Stirling then turned to present day problems. "If you were to turn your attention to Europe," he stated, "you would realize that if liberty loving people are defeated it would be only a question of time until the aggressor nations would conquer the liberty loving people."

He asked, "How long would it be if the aggressor nations won the war before they would have control of the seas and adjacent

45 ASK FOR JOB

Over 45 applications have been received by the City Council for the position of assistant caretaker at the disposal works. These have been turned over to the Board of Health for consideration.

Wholes which would be used as bases for attack on this country? In taking part in the defence of liberty we consider we are doing only the proper thing in supporting that liberty before it is too late."

Mr. Stirling referred to the visit of the King and Queen which had brought this country into a closer unity than has ever been known before. Bound by that same unity the French people, although opposing conscription, had enlisted in such numbers that there was a long waiting list for the French Canadian regiments. These were the descendants of those same early French settlers who, appreciating their liberty, desired to support the things toward which we look in our love of liberty.

On a personal note he spoke of his desire to use every opportunity to serve this country, the country of his adoption, and he had hoped that we are moving along to that unity exemplified by the visit of the King and Queen.

Hockey

to be almost impervious to even the most ferocious attacks.

It is also a pretty well established fact that a few of last year's Lumby squad have forsaken the tall timbers and have trekked to the city where celery is king. Of these, Law and Derry are said to have signed up. Armstrong also has on tap Roy Jackson, a flashy forward from Rossland.

IN HOME WATERS

Selling into home waters, information about prospective members for the Vernon team is running loose among all enthusiasts of the game. Official circles, however, still have around them a thick stone wall that has only a few chinks through which news has leaked.

Although official confirmation is not available, those who hover on the verge of the inner sanctum claim that the following line-up will closely resemble the finished product.

On the first string of forwards, Jackie Hanson, Mike Zemla, and Bill Nielsen seem almost assured. The first two named are well known here by the performances they turned in on the local squad last year, while Nielsen played for the Nelson Maple Leafs in previous seasons. The second line may include Nestor Bolinski, who turned in an outstanding performance with Lumby last season, Emory Green and "Cop" Quessel, vying for the centre spot with each a distinct possibility, and George Hassen, who played for Coral Gables in the Florida League a winter ago.

Players are still coming into the city from all points of the compass and there may yet be considerable changes in the two lines suggested here. Much has not been made public.

Vernon's defence line-up is still something of a nebulous character. Two players who might be considered as almost assured of positions last season, and Ed Anderson whose reputation as a defenceman was well established with the fans here already.

Pete Korenko has been trying out with an eye to taking over a position in the defence line, while Gordon Rutten, who just returned to the fold after a summer spent working in southern Alberta, has also been trying out his skates in the "magnet" sector. In addition to these, two players have just turned up here from Edmonton and it is understood that one of them, who has appeared in top form, is a contender for the defence berth. It is also said the coach Jack Wainman may play with the backs.

In goal, "Eggie" Hale looks like a safe bet. Other net minders were given trials but "Eggie" has shown up better than any of them. Larry Sieg has been given consideration as a local goalie, it is known.

KELOWNA ENTHUSED

From the most southern stronghold of the league, Kelowna, comes word that hockey interest has risen there to the exclusion of almost all else. The most interesting word to filter from the Orchard City this week was the news that negotiations have been completed to bring in "Piller" Purcello, star of the Burnaby Goldiggers, to act as playing coach for the season.

During the practices the Kelowna squad has had in the Civic Arena, a large quantity of more than average players have been seen in action. Their goal tender, "Vick" Novicki has shown up exceptionally well and they have included in their aggregation a forward who it is said, played for the Kimberley Dynamiters last year.

In all, the information that has trickled from the hockey centres throughout the Valley, who sometimes a little vague, has fully indicated that Okanagan fans are going to see in action this season a few of the best teams that have graced the ice in these parts for a number of years.

Export

concerned, shipments would be 1-197,000 boxes. The fact is that shipments already made total 1,600,000 boxes.

Ottawa has agreed to let the larger figure stand, for obviously the fruit already shipped could hardly be recalled.

Bulking very large is the problem of the firm sales that have been made, on which delivery has not yet been undertaken. If these are not barred, a very serious situation will arise. If not, the biggest bogey now haunting the shippers will disappear.

Major McGuire has stated to The Vernon News that he is "very hopeful" that these firm contracts will be honored.

At present, figures are being compiled in the Okanagan to give the total exports to the United Kingdom up to November 18, the portion of these exports shipped on firm contracts, the total of uncompleted firm contracts, and the quantity of apples stored at Pacific and Atlantic seaboard not included in export totals.

Last year the domestic sales after November 12 amounted to 1,108,000 boxes. This year there was a balance unsold at the same date of 1,331,800 boxes, indicating that there will be approximately 700,000 more boxes left for the domestic market from this time onward, apart from any apples coming back on the domestic from the exportable stocks.

Somewhat easing the pressure on the general situation is the fact that a drop of about 400,000 boxes in the most recent survey by B.C. Tree Fruits Limited.

Stocks on hand tabulated by B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd. at November 11 indicated that there was an estimated exportable balance of 718,211 boxes to be shipped. These include sizes and grades which generally can only be exported and can find no sale on the domestic market.

It is believed that there are some 450,000 boxes of export apples still left to be shipped under the firm sales. Since November 11, exports are said to have ranged between 150,000 and 200,000. If the firm sales are honored then the balance of exportable sizes left in the Okanagan would only be in the neighborhood of 75,000 boxes.

Lander

ber 30, and a further motion was adopted empowering Messrs. Loyd and McNair to secure a new assistant sales manager.

It was explained by the chairman that Mr. Lander himself had brought up the question of his own resignation. He had said further that he had decided to leave the company at this time might lead to a measure of dislocation, he would continue for the balance of the season without pay.

"I think we can say that this man has endeavored to give all he's got to our service since joining us," Mr. Loyd said. "There have been occasions when he's been invaluable. But there is much more than the purely personal view to consider."

While the meeting confined itself largely to the subject within the governors' powers, the control of the central marketing agency, discussion frequently moved to broader planes and the McGregor report in general was under review. That this should be done was the submission of Albert Millar, of Oliver, though other governors held the view that the general discussion could be left to the B.C.E.A. executive on the following Monday.

"If we do our duty properly we shall petition the government to prosecute," Mr. Millar asserted. "In fact, without prosecutions, this whole thing will be a farce. The combined investigation should be—must be—carried through to its final conclusion."

"There was no whitewash of certain interests in that report that was brought down," added Walter Hamilton, of Kelowna.

But it remained for David McNair, sales manager of the B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd. to offer perhaps the most vigorous comments heard during the entire day's discussion.

Punctuating his outspoken words with a fist brought down at the head of the table, Mr. McNair declared at one point that, "B.C. Tree Fruits Limited would not exist today were it not for this investigation."

ager replied that under normal conditions Ontario products could be pushed to the Manitoba market to the detriment of the Okanagan.

"Without this investigation we wouldn't have B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd. today," said President A. K. Loyd. The preference of the charges suggests that B.C. growers keep their own house in order. The set-up is not perfect but many of the abuses in existence before the charges were laid have been corrected. The growers can press for further developments and improvements. The Western Grocers have given splendid co-operation during the 1939 fruit crop sale. They handle about 40 percent of the Okanagan fruit crop.
